CAROL BOWS; NAZIS TO STOP RED ARMY

By the Associated Press
BUCHAREST, Aug. 30—Rumania announced today she had accepted an Axis ultimatum in negotiations for a cession of part of Transylvania to Hungary, and reliable reports said she had received in return a promise that German troops would come speedily to help defend her troubled Rumanian frontier.

While the government's communique did not say outright she had agreed to cede part of Transylvania, it did declare:

"As a result of the ultimatum demand of Germany and Italy, Rumania has decided to accept arbitration on the Transylvanian question."

An official announcement in Budapest said Rumania had agreed to cede Hungary an estimated 41,000 square kilometers (about 17,000 square miles) of Transylvania to be transferred within two weeks. Rumanian officials are to withdraw under the supervision of a mixed Hungarian commission.

The territory gained by Hungary is only about 45 per cent of the entire province which many Hungarians had hoped to get. It takes in the northern half of Transylvania in the shape of a horse's head with the nose extended on a line along the old pre-war eastern Hungarian frontier.

The final drawing of the frontier will be undertaken by a joint Rumanian-Hungarian commission in accordance with a map drawn up by German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Italian Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano at the four-power conference in Vienna.—Editor's note.

NAZI RED THREATS

Threat of an immediate Soviet invasion as a consequence of a Hungarian attack backed by the Axis forced the early morning capitulation to the four-power conference in Vienna where Rumania reportedly was told German motorized columns and air force were ready to move at a moment's notice if the demand for a part of Transylvania was ignored.

But as part of a secret agreement now being made at Vienna, it was reported reliably, German troops will be sent immediately to guard Rumania's new frontier with Soviet Russia.

Observers believed that the agreement providing for German troops

Italian Airmen Kill 2 U.S. Missionaries as Old Glory Waves

CAIRO, Aug. 30 (AP)—A British official, the governor-general of Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, charged today that an Italian airplane had "deliberately" machine-gunned and bombed an isolated station in the British-protected territory, killing two and wounding one missionary post in the Sudan.

The official said the attack was carried out despite the waving of an American flag by the missionaries, but no details were given as to the height from which the attack was delivered.

The governor's report said two Italian planes attacked Doro, an isolated station of the Sudan interior mission, in Upper Nile province about 55 miles southwest of Kuruk, Aug. 23.

At least 30 bombs were dropped and then the Italian fliers used their machine-guns, the report said.

Of the staff of five persons, it said, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Grievie were killed and Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Oglesby were wounded.

All are Americans. (Addresses not given.)

A Miss Walsh, an Australian, was unhurt.

The Grievies were said to have run out of the mission station waving a large American flag, but this failed to ward off the machine-gun attack by the Italians.

Two boys of the Marwan tribe nearby also were wounded.

The missionary station was described as "absolutely isolated with no sort of military objective in the vicinity."

The governor-general of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan is a British officer appointed by Egypt with British assent. Administration, however, is carried out through British district commissioners.

The large territory, south of Egypt, has been under repeated Italian attack, particularly on the eastern frontier near Gallabat, opposite Ethiopia, and Kassala, opposite Eritrea.

U. S.-Canadian Dutch Army to Join War

WITH THE DUTCH LEGION IN WALES, Aug. 30 (AP)—Plans to recruit a Netherlands army among Dutch residents of the United States and Canada were disclosed today by authorized Netherlands on the eve of exiled Queen Wilhelmina's 60th birthday.

The force will be trained at a Canadian camp and will be commanded by Lieut.-Col. G. J. Sas of the Netherlands army, who plans to leave with his staff for Ottawa next week.

AS DEATH RAINS DOWN ON BERLIN

THIS ONE DIDN'T MISS—In reprisal raids, British airmen flew over Berlin, dropped their cargoes of death. Above, a Nazi fireman looks down on dwelling house after a British bomb had landed on roof. More than 10 persons were reported killed by the British raiders.

Britons Drive 600 Planes Back 3 Times Over London

LONDON, Aug. 30—Bombs crashed in at least one district of the Greater London area today when hundreds of German war planes made three desperate efforts to rain destruction on the capital in reprisal for recent R. A. F. attacks on Berlin.

On three separate occasions during the day, London air raid sirens wailed, warning the population to shelters, but up to a late hour it appeared that only a fraction of the 600 or more raiding planes had reached the capital to drop their death-dealing bombs.

The first two air raid warnings lasted for 55 and 20 minutes respectively. In the third, the "all clear" did not come for an hour and 13 minutes.

Streets of the suburbs were crowded with shoppers when the bombs were dropped. Men and women who had gone out after the second warning ended, had to take shelter again.

Reports from a southeast town said that while London's second warning was in progress 12 high explosive bombs and a few incendiaries were dropped in outlying districts, and several persons were injured and one man died of shock.

Some houses were badly damaged. The gunfire over one London suburban area was described as "terrific" by some eye-witnesses as one German bomber was shot down with no British fighters in hot pursuit.

Furious dog-fights raged within earshot of Piccadilly Circus and the dread through familiar thud of falling bombs could be heard distinctly from one London area.

At least three German planes were shot down during the second raid on the capital in which wild dog-fighting between British and Nazi planes occurred over the outskirts of London.

The third attack cost the Germans at least a like number.

FURIOUS AIR FIGHTING

An air battle of considerable proportions raged in the London area during the third raid. The sound of heavy bombing and the rattling

SPIES IN LONDON AID NAZI RAIDERS

LONDON, Aug. 30 (INS)—Beacon fires, glowing torchlights and illuminated windows, lighted during recent night raids by German planes, arouses suspicions of fifth column activities in Great Britain today.

There have been numerous occurrences of this type during recent raids, authoritative sources said. Belief was expressed that the lights are being used to spot all military objectives for Nazi bombers, signal the accuracy of bombing attacks and guide German pilots across England.

Several arrests have been made for activities of this type recently, it was disclosed. Last night a man was picked up in a block of London flats—in a bombed area—after flashing lights were seen at his windows.

Hundreds of reports, charging various people with treacherous signaling, have reached Scotland Yard recently. In most cases, however, investigation has shown that lights were displayed purely by accident.

Foes Assail Draft As List Is Doubled

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Pre-debate skirmishing opened up in the House today on the peacetime conscription bill, with a group of foes assailing it as "unnecessary" and its advocates predicting that it would ride through to overwhelming approval by the end of next week.

2 DIVORCES, 1 MARRIAGE

LAURENCE OLIVIER AND VIVIEN LEIGH
At Long Last They Marry

VIVIEN LEIGH WEDS LAURENCE OLIVIER

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Aug. 30 (AP)—Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh of the films were married early today. Actress Katharine Hepburn and Garson Kanin, youthful film director, were their attendants.

The ceremony was conducted by Municipal Judge Fred Harsh at San Ysidro Ranch, resort popular with motion picture celebrities, in suburban Montecito.

Other witnesses to the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Weingand, Santa Barbara socialites and long-time friends of the couple, and County Clerk Jack Lewis.

The couple appeared at the ranch shortly after 11:30 p. m. last night, and the ceremony was performed one minute after midnight, upon expiration of the three-day waiting period required by State law.

They left by motor for an unannounced destination in northern California.

Olivier and Miss Leigh, British film figures who have attained prominence on the American screen, were divorced in London by their former spouses.

Miss Leigh, best known for her role of Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind," was divorced by Herbert Leigh Holman, London barrister, who named Olivier as co-respondent.

Olivier was divorced by his actress-wife, Jill Esmond, who named Miss Leigh as co-respondent. Olivier has starred in "Wuthering Heights," "Rebecca" and "Pride and Prejudice."

N. E. Labor Day Travel To Set New Record
Mounting reservations today indicated the greatest Labor Day travel in New England history—by land, sea and air.

The greatest travel increase is reported in the skyways. Daily schedules from Boston to New York have jumped from 14 planes a day to 23. This will be increased to 30 planes over the Labor Day week-end, and on the big day, Monday, there will be a total of at least 37 planes.

The attack was incorporated in an eight-man minority report filed on the revised version of the Burke-Wadsworth compulsory military training measure which was approved yesterday by a majority of the members of the House Military Committee.

Actual debate is scheduled to start Tuesday on the House Bill, which differs in one vital particular from that passed by the Senate.

The House measure would require male citizens from 21 to 44 to register for possible service, whereas the Senate age bracket was 21 to 30. Leaders saw a hot fight in the offing on the age question.

STRONG MINORITY REPORT
The minority report attack on the Burke-Wadsworth bill declared "that this proposal and others inevitably to follow to conscript man power, conscript the farmers, conscript industry, conscript labor to run industry and conscript the wealth of the nation is not only unnecessary at this time to adequate defense of the country, but that it is a distinct and dangerous departure which will lead ultimately to the destruction of the American form of government to a totalitarian, military economy."

The report bore the names of Representatives Anderson (D.) of Missouri, Byrns (D.) of Tennessee, Short (R.) of Missouri, Arends (R.) of Illinois, Shafer (R.) of Michigan, Martin (R.) of Iowa, Elston (R.) of Ohio and Harness (R.) of Indiana. It was reported that at least one more committeeman was expected to sign.

Both Republican and Democratic leaders, however, were saying that the legislation would win by a smashing margin before another week passed.

"The House bill will be passed by two to one in my judgment," Continued on Page 14, Column 1

VIRGINIA WALDEN OF NEWTON
She'll Wed Boston's Irish Consul

IRISH ENVOY HERE TO WED TOMORROW

Brendan McCarthy O'Riordan, Irish consul in Boston will be married tomorrow afternoon at Falmouth to Miss Virginia Walden of Newton and Falmouth, it was announced today.

The ceremony will be performed by Rev. John E. Boyd of St. Patrick's Church, assisted by Rev. John J. Kelly.

The bride will be attended by her sister, Mrs. Hope Thomas, of Berkeley, Cal. Dr. Daniel Crowley of New York will be best man. Five-year-old Lynn Walden will act as flower girl. James J. Rourke and Ray A. Rourke of Brighton will be ushers.

After a wedding reception in Boston, the couple will leave immediately for a 10-day honeymoon.

One of the youngest Irish consuls in the service, O'Riordan was appointed to his first post when he was 22, came to America in 1931 to a position in New York, then came to Boston to fill the post left vacant by the death of the former consul here, the late Percy Galwey-Foley. He is 32 years old.

Miss Walden, who was a secretary in a Boston firm, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Walden of Newton.

Score Flee Flames In E. Boston Block

More than a score of persons in eight families were driven from their homes on Paris and Meridian sts. in East Boston today as fire raged through a building on Meridian st.

In the building that caught fire was a lunchroom, unoccupied at the time, an empty war veterans hall and a vacant flat; but so fiercely did the flames rage that firemen went through the adjoining tenement houses on both sides of the buildings, and in back, rousing the tenants.

Boxer Fined for Slap Despite Girl's Plea

Although a girl whose face he slapped appeared in court to ask leniency for him, Dick Madden of Roxbury, a former heavy-weight boxer, was found guilty today on an assault and battery charge.

Municipal Court Judge Jennie Lottman Barron fined him $35, placed a drunkenness charge on file, and warned him that "Boston streets aren't a prize ring." The slap she received from Madden was "just a little one," Miss Lorrain Rohlfing, 27, of Bolton st., South Boston, told the court.

She said Madden, with whom she was not acquainted, accosted her Aug. 23 as she was standing in a doorway.

"He seemed to have been drinking and he mumbled something I didn't understand," she testified. "Since that time, however, he came to me and apologized in a very gentlemanly manner. I wish the assault and battery charge against him be dropped."

STATE MAY AID KIN OF NURSE

No money can ever make up the loss of 21-year-old Anne Catherine Duggan to her widowed mother and family, but the State moved today to give them the financial assistance for which the girl risked her life—and lost it.

On orders of Governor Saltonstall, Dr. Clifton T. Perkins, commissioned of mental health, began an investigation to determine if circumstances surrounding the death of the Worcester State hospital attendant nurse would warrant compensation. The young girl took an allergy test at the hospital for the sake of a $2 fee. She had a weak heart and an asthmatic condition, unknown to medical authorities, and died of shock.

Girl in Court Double-Header

It was a double-header in Chelsea court today for 21-year-old Mrs. Mabel King of Neptune ct., West Lynn, waitress at the Grotto Cafe in Shirley ave., Revere.

In the first half of her twin appearance, Mrs. King received a suspended $100 fine and probation for a year on a charge of unlawfully selling, after hours, an intoxicating beverage to ABC inspectors. Arthur J. Digan of Charlestown, bartender at the Grotto, was given a like sentence, but Anthony Franklin, 35, of North Shore rd., Revere, was fined $100 and given one week to pay on the charge.

Then came Mrs. King's second appearance as complainant against David Morovitz of Centennial ave., Revere, after an alleged quarrel at his home. She dropped the complaint, however.

Hub Sees First Mechanized Arms in Jewish Vet Parade

Thousands of Bostonians had their first view of a mechanized detachment—the type used in present-day war—as the spirited parade of the Jewish War Veterans wound its way through downtown streets today.

This detachment from Fort Devens, vied for interest with the attractively-uniformed members of the auxiliary, led by strutting girl drum majors.

Marched by Harold Seidenberg of Cambridge, with Lieut. John C. O'Neil as his adjutant, the colorful procession started at Beacon and Arlington sts., passed the State House, City Hall, continued through Washington, Winter, Tremont and Boylston sts., and ended on Boston Common.

There were more than 7500 persons in line, the feminine contingent in smart uniforms and capes, the men in more sober-hued regalia. Fifteen bands made the way gay with marching tunes.

The parade was reviewed at the State House by Governor Saltonstall and at City Hall by Mayor Tobin.

The Governor, as honorary chief marshal, had planned to lead the procession but was unable to do so because of State business.

32 STATES REPRESENTED

In addition to the veterans' and auxiliary posts, there were detachments of marines, soldiers, sailors and from both the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Approximately 2500 Jewish War Veterans and their ladies represented Massachusetts among the 32 states which had delegations. The largest group outside of New England was from New York State.

Winning enthusiastic applause from the crowds gathered to watch the parade was the championship Washington, D. C., corps whose music won them their title at the last convention in Chicago.

The Boston fire department band represented the host city in the procession.

LATEST TYPE TANKS

The mechanized army detachment from Fort Devens included a number of the latest type of tanks—the kind used in the blitzkrieg of the day.

Marines were from the Navy Yard at Charlestown and the sailors from the U. S. S. Vincennes, now docked here.

Edgar J. Burnam, national commander of the Jewish War Veterans, after riding in the procession, reviewed the marchers from a stand on Boston Common at Boylston st., near Charles.

Suspect Trailed In Girl Murder

With his moves shrouded in secrecy, Police Chief Michael W. Conlon of North Adams was in Boston today, keeping under surveillance, it was understood, a suspect in the 7-year-old slaying of Leah Lloyd Johnson in a North Adams woods.

The 19-year-old girl, a housemaid and former telephone operator, was stabbed and garroted not far from the center of North Adams while keeping a date on the night of April 29, 1933.

Clues unearthed by investigators lent credence to two theories—that she had planned to elope or that she was fleeing from someone she feared.

The suspect Chief Conlon is understood to be trailing left, North Adams a few weeks after the murder and had not been heard of since, until a few days ago when the chief received a tip that the man was in Boston.

4 KILLED, TWO DYING, 11 HURT IN CRASHES

Four persons were killed today, two were dying and 11 were injured as the result of a series of automobile accidents on rain-slicked highways throughout the state.

Worst crash occurred on Front st. in Chicopee where a light coupe occupied by three Chicopee Falls young men, traveling down the wet brick pavement at a speed estimated by police at over a mile a minute skidded on the car tracks and hit a pole.

Instantly killed were Leo Belina of Wheatland ave. and Rudolph Kagan of Harrison ave.; on the danger list at Springfield Hospital and not expected to live the day was the owner of the car, Walter Spachiwicz of Hyde ave.

Officers said the car was traveling so fast when it skidded sideways into the post the wooden pole was driven half-way through the entire body of the machine.

KILLED IN NEWBURY

Though there were no witnesses to the collision, neighbors within a radius of a quarter-mile heard the crash and called police. The wrecked machine had to be pulled free by trucks before the bodies could be removed.

Harry Hellburg, 40, chauffeur at the River House, York Village, Me., was instantly killed when his light sedan crashed into a traffic beacon on the Newburyport turnpike in Newbury at terrific speed, then sideswiped a truck.

William D. Fiske, 33, of Stoughton, driver of the truck, was injured in the crash.

George Smith, 24, of Addison st., Chelsea, died at Boston City Hospital of injuries received when crossing Old Colony blvd. South Boston.

A 28-year-old Dorchester man carried his semi-invalid mother and an expectant mother from a three-family wooden apartment house on Columbia rd., Dorchester, today, when flames roared through the building.

Joseph Spectre, putting his car in the garage in the rear of the house, discovered the fire and ran inside and carried out his mother, Mrs. Lena Spectre, 58.

Then he went back and with another tenant, George Benson, carried Mrs. Benson, who is soon to become a mother, down from the second floor.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lynch, occupants of the top floor, roused by Spectre's shouts, made their way down the smoke-filled stairways. Damage was estimated at $1000.

Draft of Industry Bill Road To Dictatorship, Says Willkie

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Aug. 30 (AP)—Calling on President Roosevelt to state his own views, Wendell L. Willkie has denounced as "revolutionary" a section of the Senate-approved conscription bill permitting the government to take over certain plants needed for defense.

"It may be that the American people want to Socialize and socialize our system of free enterprise," the Republican presidenttial nominee told reporters yesterday.

"If they do, that is all right, but that is one of the fundamental issues of the campaign and I want to debate it."

Willkie made this comment as he issued a 1100-word statement criticizing the Overton-Russell amendment to the conscription measure.

He said the amendment would let the government operate a plant whenever the Secretary of War or Navy could not reach an agreement with the owner.

FEARS DICTATORSHIP

Declaring this authority would set up a "potential dictatorship," Willkie's statement continued:

"No such sweeping powers were ever heretofore granted to a President of the United States even in time of war. This amendment, if it becomes law, will further impede and disorganize the defense program at the very time when we must speed it up."

"It will constitute a threat to the American labor and particularly union labor, for the President of the United States some time ago told American labor: 'You cannot strike against the government.'"

After issuing his statement, Willkie listened by radio to the speech of Henry A. Wallace accepting the Democratic Vice Presidential nomination.

ANSWERS WALLACE

Asked for comment on the assertion of the former agriculture secretary that the Republican party "is the party of appeasement," Willkie said:

"There can't be anything more wrong than 100 per cent wrong, can there?"

Then he added, "Mr. Wallace is a gentleman."

The majority of Americans, Willkie said, will welcome Senate passage of the conscription bill as "the most democratic way" of creating a defense army. He said, though that if he were a House member he would vote against it should the Overton-Russell amendment be retained.

F. D. WON'T REPLY TO WILLKIE

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt charged today that efforts were being made to involve him in a political controversy over a provision of the conscription bill authorizing the government to take over private industrial plants.

He declined at a press conference to answer Wendell L. Willkie's demand that he state his position on the provision. Let us all acknowledge it and stop there, the President said.

He declined at a press conference to answer Wendell L. Willkie's demand that he state his position on the provision. Let us all acknowledge it and stop there, the President said.

RECALLS OLD RULE

The provision, inserted in the conscription bill before it passed the Senate, would empower the chief executive to take over plants or facilities when the Secretary of War of Secretary of Navy was unable to negotiate an agreement with the owners for production of defense needs.

Asked whether he approved the amendment, sponsored by Senators Overton (D.) of Louisiana and Russell (D.) of Georgia, Mr. Roosevelt inquired in turn whether reporters remembered an old rule of 1933.

Does the President comment on legislation, amendments or rules pending in Congress? He asked.

"Sometimes he does," a reporter remarked.

LAUDS WALLACE SPEECH

Mr. Roosevelt declined also to be drawn into a discussion of whether he concurred with Henry A. Wallace's statement, in his speech last night accepting the Democratic vice-presidential nomination, that the Republican party was a party of appeasement.

He said he did not think a question along that line needed an answer, that the Wallace speech spoke excellently for itself, as he told the secretary in a telegram last night.

Roosevelt Delighted By Wallace Speech

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt acclaimed Henry A. Wallace's acceptance address today as a "grand speech, splendidly given before an appreciative nation," in which his running mate had made "a glorious start."

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt and their son, Franklin, Jr., sat beside a radio in the library of their home last night and listened to the address in which Secretary Wallace formally accepted his nomination as the Democratic Vice-Presidential candidate. Then the Chief Executive dispatched this telegram, made public today at the temporary White House, to his political teammate: "A grand speech and splendidly given before an appreciative nation. We have been sitting at the radio and only wish that all of us Roosevelts could have been with the Wallaces in Des Moines tonight. You have made a glorious start. All good luck and my affectionate regards."

"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT." While Wallace was getting off to the "glorious start," the President showed no signs of altering his position that world conditions and the defense program would make it impossible for him to campaign for a third term.

He was bucking down to work, however, on two Labor Day speeches. One will be made Monday morning when he dedicates Chickamauga dam on the Tennessee river near Chattanooga. The other will be given Monday afternoon at the dedication of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park at New Found Gap, on the North Carolina-Tennessee boundary.

While nation-wide radio hookups are being arranged for the addresses, Presidential aides said they definitely would not be campaign speeches.

Wallace Says F. D. Only Can Curb Hitler

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 30 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace called upon the voters of the United States to curb Hitler's "designs against this hemisphere" by re-electing President Roosevelt.

Formally accepting the Democratic nomination for vice president in a prepared address here in his home town, the former secretary of agriculture charged the Republicans with being "the appeasement party in the United States today."

Telling the speech "the new fight for freedom," Wallace declared this nation "must face the fact that the dictators have definite designs against this hemisphere."

"Their tactics here as in Europe are to divide and conquer," he said. "They hope by propaganda and bartering agreements to set one nation against another."

... Out of the confusion which they have created they hope to build political power and eventually military power...

"They hope to get rid of the unyielding Roosevelt."

The nominee said he did not "wish to imply that the Republican leaders are wilfully and consciously giving aid and comfort to Hitler."

"But I want to emphasize that replacement of Roosevelt, even if it were by the most patriotic leadership that could be found, would cause Hitler to rejoice. I do not believe the American people will turn their backs on the man Hitler wants to see defeated."

Maintaining that President Roosevelt has "understood the Hitler menace from the start," Wallace declared:

"Powerful elements in our opposition will, if the Republicans come into power, force us to make one economic concession after another to the totalitarian countries."

"These appeasers will have their way if the Republicans win, because they have contributed largely, both politically and financially, to the Republican cause. These people believe the Republicans in power would give them the profitable business with a German-controlled Europe at the earliest possible moment."

ARCHBISHOP'S MEMORY HONORED

His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell presided today at a solemn high mass of requiem commemorating the 33rd anniversary of the death of Archbishop John J. Williams of Boston. Services were solemnized at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross with the Rev. Harry M. O'Connor, celebrating the mass. The Rev. Peter J. McDonough was deacon and the Rev. Michael F. Costello, sub-deacon. The Rev. Henry M. O'Connell was master of ceremonies. Msgr. Jeremiah F. Minihan and the Rev. James H. Doyle attended His Eminence.

The cardinal made the journey from his summer home in Marblehead for the occasion. He planned to spend the day at the diocesan house in Brighton. He was in excellent health, well tanned, and displaying his usual vigor despite his years.

BRIAIN TELLS WAR ENVOY TO LEAVE U. S. AT ONCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (INS)—The British embassy has "very firmly advised" Sir George Paish, British economist now under investigation by the Department of Justice, to return to London at once, the embassy disclosed today.

While there was no formal statement, it was said the embassy regards Sir George's further presence here as detrimental to good Anglo-American relations in view of the future which his interview with Sen. Wheeler raised in the Senate.

An embassy spokesman explained that what had been said to Sir George was in the nature of "advice" rather than an "order," but that the advice had been given in firm, unmistakable terms.

EXPECTED TO LEAVE

The embassy said it wanted it clearly understood Sir George's mission here was not and had never been of an official nature and that consequently he could not be ordered home. It was felt, however, he would accept the advice of the embassy.

It was clearly realized in British circles that Sir George, in view of the storm he has raised, would be of no further use to the British cause in this country, the spokesman asserted.

Meanwhile, Sen. Wheeler issued a vigorous denial he had misrepresented Sir George when he told the Senate Monday the 72-year-old economist was trying to get the United States into the war.

Replying to Paish's statement in New York yesterday that he was misunderstood by Wheeler, the Montanana Democrat said:

"It is inconceivable that one could misinterpret such simple language as 'I am the man who got this country into the last war and I am going to get the United States into this war.'"

"I did not misinterpret anything that Sir George Paish said to me because there was no chance for misinterpretation—his language was so plain and simple."

The Justice Department is making a thorough inquiry into Paish's activities. It was begun after Wheeler accused the titled Englishman of propagandizing to get the United States into war.

In an interview in New York Paish was represented as expressing indifference to the Justice Department's investigation.

"They are investigating my credentials, not me," he was quoted as saying—Editors Note.

HITS PROPAGANDA

In reply to Paish's statement that he presented "certain facts" to Wheeler, the Senator said:

"Paish presented me no facts. He gave me only conclusion based upon what might happen which he conjured up in his mind."

"This propaganda is the type which should be stamped out in the United States, whether it is proposed by Germans, Frenchmen, Italians or English."

Wheeler reiterated that so far as he is concerned Paish made it plain in their long conversation that he wants to influence this country to go to war in aid of Britain.

Clipper Sails, Leaves Passengers Behind

LISBON, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Yankee Clipper, twice turned back by swells at Horta, the Azores, set out for a third time for the United States today. Because of headwinds, the Clipper left 24 passengers and considerable mail behind.

Those left behind included Bernard Strasser, Benedictine monk brother of Otto Strasser, arch-foe of Adolf Hitler, who is reported seeking American refuge for Otto.

Sen. Wheeler Demands Deportation of Paish

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (INS)—Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, Montana Democrat, today demanded the deportation of Sir George Paish, British economist, whose propaganda activities in the United States are now under investigation by the Department of Justice.

In a telephone interview with the New York Journal-American, Sen. Wheeler declared from Washington:

"I say Sir George is a British agent, here to try to get this country into war, and I say he and all the other Sir Georges attempting the same mission should be deported."

Told of Sir George's statements that he had communicated to Senator Wheeler secret information of vital importance to the United States, the Montana Senator said: "You can judge for yourself whether it's startling. He told me that Hitler wants Brazil and that he would try to take Brazil. He also said that after Hitler got Brazil he would begin a campaign against the United States because he wants our gold."

"I replied: 'There is no doubt Mr. Hitler wants to rule the world. A lot of people in this country also want to rule the world but neither they nor Mr. Hitler are going to get a chance to do it.'"

NAZIS SEE WINTER OF WAR?

LES VERRIERES, French-Swiss Frontier, Aug. 30 (AP)—Informed sources declared today the German army of occupation is considering taking all French war prisoners from the occupied zone to Germany because of a growing conviction the war will continue at least through the winter.

More than 1,000,000 prisoners are involved, it was said.

The Germans would free these men in occupied territory but for the fear of sabotage and disorders, it was said, and the Vichy government is unprepared to care for them in the French zone not under occupation.

Furthermore, these sources said, some supplies earmarked for German occupying forces and troops preparing for the battle of Britain are being used for war prisoners because of the inability of French authorities to feed them properly.

A few steps from Summer

SPECIAL EDITION TO AID SHOPPERS

Families home from vacation—every member who makes a purchase in a single store—are going to find that Greater Boston business men have not been idle during the summer, and that every effort has been made to anticipate their needs.

Stores, anticipating a rush following the Labor Day weekend, have made plans to handle customers who will want to make all manner of purchases for the coming cool weather.

For the guidance of all members of the family who join in the buying parade as Labor Day officially closes the summer vacation season, the Boston Record-American-Advertiser will publish special "Back Home to Buy" editions.

These editions, timed and planned to meet the specific needs of the family, will provide "shopping news at a glance" for the thousands of families who read these papers.

SPECIAL FEATURES

And that isn't all. In addition, there will be special features dealing with new trends in fall and winter wear for the ladies, the gentlemen and the children. Emphasis also will be placed on every conceivable accessory.

These special editions will supply the answer to the shopping problem of each member of the family—the youngster, who must be dressed up for school opening; the elder boy or girl who is going to college; dad, who needs a fall suit as a change from summer clothes; and mother, who probably feels that her countless shopping problems can only be solved by Madame.

FRESHLY STOCKED

Naturally the stores which have gathered their merchandise from the markets of the world are freshly stocked to meet the new fall demands. As usual the earlier shoppers will have first choice of the new fall styles and the heavier clothes which will come with the cold weather.

Crammed with advertisements of reliable stores and special feature articles by experts, the "Back Home to Buy" editions will enable readers to make up their shopping lists with a minimum of effort answering for them at a glance the problem:

"Where can I buy what I want—at the price I want to pay?"

Foes Bitter on Draft As List Is Doubled

said Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas.

While waiting for the debate to start, the House first had to dispose of Senate amendments to the $5,133,628,777 defense appropriation bill carrying funds to start construction of 200 warships for a "two-ocean" navy and more than 14,000 airplanes.

NO HOLIDAY SESSIONS

The Senate, in a speedy performance yesterday, completed consideration of the bill in a single day. Senator Lundeen (F. L.) of Minnesota raised the only voice against passage.

The Senate changes, among other things, would appropriate $100,000,000 for housing and defense workers, $13,668,000 for improvements at nine naval yards and training stations, and an increase of $10,000,000 for naval aviation.

There was a possibility that the Senate changes might be accepted or the bill sent to conference today, because leaders arranged to skip House sessions over the Labor Day holiday.

President Roosevelt has asked haste on the bill, so that the planes and other defense equipment it provides for can be ordered without further delay.

In getting ready for the Burke-Wadsworth bill debate, neither party planned a poll of its members, as is customary before votes on major legislation.

The Democrats said sentiment on their side of the aisle was overwhelming; Republicans said that "it is not a party matter; it will be every man for his own ideas."

The decisive Senate vote for conscription Wednesday and final House committee action yesterday set the stage for Chairman May (D.) of Kentucky, of the committee to go before the House rules committee, with full administration support, to ask legislative right-of-way on the floor for the controversial measure.

ASKS 2-DAY DEBATE May said he would ask for procedure permitting two days of general debate on the whole question and unlimited consideration of amendments to the bill. He estimated that a total of four days would be required in all. Rayburn said only that "it will be passed next week."

The House committee's conscription

SEPTEMBER BRIDE — Helen Hoglund, member of Quincy's younger set, will wed U. S. Internal Revenue Deputy Collector Herbert F. Morris of Wollaston on Saturday, September 14. She's Burdett College graduate.

tion bill was approved yesterday by a vote of 20 to 4. Although some members who favored sending it before the House reserved the right to oppose it later.

Like the Senate bill, the House legislation would provide training deferments for ministers, men with dependents, the mentally and physically unfit and men in occupations deemed necessary "to the maintenance of the national health, safety or interest."

Vet Resolve Urges Ban on Communists

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars turned their attention at the annual national encampment here to resolutions dealing with patriotism and to the election of new officers.

One resolution up for consideration demanded that Congress outlaw the Communist party. Another endorsed military conscription. A third pledged V.F.W. aid in a drive against subversive influences.

Still another proposed that the encampment ask Congress to extend high military honors to the late Gen. William L. Mitchell, especially restoring posthumously his rank of brigadier-general, taken from him after he advocated stronger air defenses.

LOWEST POINT

Already the encampment has adopted resolutions asking restriction of immigration "to the lowest point consistent with national needs," restriction of government offices to United States citizens, and prohibition from public office to those who refuse to salute the American flag.

Also adopted was a resolution that Congress investigate charges that the Russian government had defrauded the United States of $2,600,000 annually by confiscating disability compensation and World War bonuses to former American soldiers working in Russia.

INCREASE BENEFITS

The encampment asked that government insurance be made incontestable after two years, that hospitalization be provided for veterans of all recognized campaigns, and that benefits be increased for war veterans and their widows, including women married to veterans for as little as two years.

The Ford Dearborn Post of Dearborn, Mich., won the senior drum and bugle corps contest, major competition of the encampment, thus gaining the national championship it missed by a fraction of a point last year.

U. S. Revenue Climbs for Year

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Guy T. Helvering, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, said today that internal revenue collections for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1940, were $5,876,384,20 more than those of the preceding 12 months.

Collections totaled $5,340,452,346.78 for the 1940 fiscal year, compared with $5,181,573,922.58 for 1939.

Income tax payments, both corporate and individual, showed decreases however. Corporations paid $1,120,581,550.75 in the 1940 period compared with $1,122,540,800.61 the preceding year.

Individuals' payments amounted to $98,201,376.17 for 1940 as compared with the $1,028,833,796.49 received in 1939.

Gains, however, were registered in the miscellaneous levies and employment taxes.

Oh, Boy! $15,000 In Bank—Maybe

Patrolman Joseph Gallagher of Station 10, Roxbury Crossing, thought he had heard most of the answers, but today he changed his mind when he met a worried-looking citizen pacing up and down Washington st. outside the Rockland National Bank branch. "What's the trouble?" asked Gallagher.

"I've got to get in the bank right away," answered the worrier.

"Why?" "I have $15,000 in there and as president of the Society for Relief of Habitual Drinkers I have a number of things to do."

Pointing out to the man that the bank ordinarily did not open at such an early hour, Gallagher escorted him to City Hospital.

Just before going to sleep under a sedative, the man murmured: "It's all right. My wife's down in Maine on a vacation."

The battle of Britain now has reached a period where we can pin down almost to the day the time when it will be possible to assay the outcome with far greater confidence than we can just now.

If England hold out one month more against the intensified bombing, until Oct. 1—approximately the beginning of bad flying weather and rough seas—I believe she will have established her right to claim she may win the war.

If she cracks up before this month is passed—obviously Hitler has his conquest in the bag. We shall be smart, too, if we recognize that his position is so powerful he may achieve exactly that—though he may not.

There's one vital thing lacking to make it possible for us to give a close estimate of what may happen in the next month—and that's how much damage the British Isles are suffering materially, and how much in morale, if any.

The British government won't give us the answer and the Germans are unable to, for airmen can't make accurate estimates of their work while in high. It would be hard to believe the material damage isn't heavy, but I believe more depends on the condition of civilian morale. England can stand to lose a lot of homes and factories before her situation will become desperate. Public morale, though, not only must be high, but must improve with adversity.

Indications are that the morale of the British Isles is riding high. A striking picture of England's will to win is painted in an article today by the Associated Press from E. A. Montague, an English newspaperman in London.

His theme is that he is happy and "Britain today is a happy country" because she at last "set to work to make good the years that the looting had eaten" during the period of appeasement and indifference, and is determined "to fight until either this nation or Hitler is destroyed."

I don't know the writer, but I had a dear friend in his father, the late C. E. Montague, who was one of the literary giants of England, who always seemed to me to represent the real fighting spirit of Britain.

600 Nazis Routed In 3 London Raids

of machine-gun fire were clearly audible.

Various localized fights were in progress as R. A. F. fighters engaged individual isolated raiders.

More than an hour after the third alarm sounded, watchers saw a swarm of British and German planes interlocked in violent combat. One Nazi plane was seen to plummet from this group toward the ground, smoke pouring from its tail.

In another area, ground observers saw one Nazi plane, pursued by RAF fighters, petition its mobs in an attempt to flee. The British planes caught up with it inside of two minutes and sent it crashing out of control. Terrific anti-aircraft fire rang through the capital.

ONLY TWO GET THROUGH
Two Nazi craft pierced the defenses in the first attack but the second was nipped in the bud, and unofficial reports this afternoon indicated the Germans had lost at least 30 planes.

The second mass formation was observed heading for London soon after it crossed the southeast coast. RAF fighters went aloft after anti-aircraft batteries had scattered the raiding squadron and engaged the attackers in a series of violent dog-fights all along the channel.

Six hundred German planes were counted in the first formation of raiders.

No activity was observable from rooftop vantage points during the second alarm. London streets preserved their every-day aspect, with plenty of pedestrians and traffic to be seen and no signs of undue excitement.

With the toll of German planes shot down steadily mounting, it was learned that another Nazi bomber had been shot down into the sea off the southeast coast. A Messerschmidt-110 went down in a southeast town. The crew bailed out and was captured.

BATTLES IN THE AIR

According to scattered reports, at least a half dozen different dog-fights took place along the south coast during the noon hour as the service split into formations of 15 or 20 and attempted to get back across the channel only to run into more Spitfires, Hurricanes and Defiants.

Three German planes were reported to have crashed in a single southeast area.

The air ministry announced officially that 19 German planes had been shot down up to 2 p. m., but the unofficial count was believed much higher.

Six British machines were lost, the announcement said, but the pilot of one was safe.

Authorized sources in Berlin said 41 British planes were destroyed today in Nazi attacks on Britain, including 39 shot down in the air and two destroyed on the ground. Most of the British losses, it was said, occurred in battles over a flying field near Aldershot. German losses were listed as seven planes.—Editor's Note.

The two Nazi planes that pierced London's defenses in the first raid, dropped scores of small incendiary and high explosive bombs which caused some damage in one area of London proper and elsewhere.

A fire station was destroyed by a direct hit and some damage was done to private property.

Seventy incendiary bombs fell in a single densely populated street but all landed in the roadway. Not a house was touched and the bombs burned themselves out.

The Germans used formations of approximately 15 to 20 planes each in attempting a mass penetration of the London area, leading to the spectacular air combats.

But watchers saw the British fighting planes and anti-aircraft fire constantly break up the German formations preventing all but single machines from entering the London area to unload their cargoes.

At one time half a dozen separate dogfights were in progress simultaneously at tremendous heights.

The German attack on the city developed from several points, but so accurate was the anti-aircraft fire that it was some time after the battle began that it was necessary to sound warning sirens in the London area.

TANKER FEARED LOST

LONDON, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Venezuelan oil tanker Bolivar, 2651 tons, is overdue and must be presumed to be lost, a Reuters (British) dispatch from Rangoon said today.

RED ARMY IN SECRET MANEUVER

MOSCOW, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Soviet Russian army began maneuvers today in a region described as "the western special military district" as Moscow awaited a demanded "early and satisfactory" reply to two protests to Rumania.

The Russian Navy also has begun maneuvers, with submarine flotillas scouting theoretical enemy bases so as to permit the surface fleets to take the open sea for mock battle, Red Fleet, the navy's organ, announced today. The locale was not disclosed.

The Red army troops trained in offensive tactics under observation by Marshal Semen Timoshenko, commissar of defense. There was no indication that the "western" district was near the troubled Rumanian border.

Under theoretical enemy fire, the Russian forces marched 30 miles and crossed a river while artillery laid a smoke screen, aviation provided protection and engineers built bridges in the realistic western operations.

The Soviet press, meanwhile, published reports of the Rumanian-Hungarian border clashes and the German-Italian arbitration at Vienna without editorial comment.

Russia's two protests to Bucharest charged Rumanian troops with "provocative actions" on the Russian-Rumanian frontier and warned of possible "grave" consequences of any further incidents.

Italians Again Bomb British Base at Malta

ROME, Aug. 30 (AP)—Renewed air bombardment of the British Mediterranean island naval base of Malta and bombing of British troop concentrations in Kenya colony were reported today by the Italian high command.

Rumania Bows; Nazi Army to Red Border protection of Rumania was Hitler's means of blocking a planned Russian invasion of Rumania that seemed threatened as a result of the incited border incidents of the past few days—Editor's Note.

TRIPLE INVASION

Government circles said Rumania faced overwhelming odds in a ring of threatened invasion.

Bombing a Hun... backed by Germany, and the possibility of a Russian move in from the north, and in event of conflict, Rumania also faced the possibility of a Russian move in from the south, they said.

A reply to Rumania's acceptance is expected by midafternoon from Vienna where the German and Ital-

Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano, have been conferring with Foreign Minister Hishell Manollescu of Rumania and Premier Count Pal Teleky and Foreign Minister Count Istvan Casky of Hungary.

Then the Rumanian crown council will meet to clinch the agreement.

An authoritative account of the all-night palace conference in which telephone contact was maintained with Vienna and a parade of leaders consulted with King Carol, said that at one stage Rumania was told she must make her decision within five minutes.

NAZIS GIVE 5 MINUTES
At 12:16 a. m., this story said, Foreign Minister Manollescu, with Ribbentrop sitting beside him, telephoned that he had been given five minutes in which to get a definite acceptance of the Vienna plan from Bucharest.

If the five minutes passed without Rumanian official approval, Ribbentrop was reported to have said, Rumania might face immediate invasion by Russia on one side, and Hungary, backed by the German motorized columns and air force, on the other.

It was understood the ceded territory would exclude certain admittedly Rumanian districts and areas inhabited by Saxons and Swabians Eastward the ceded area was expected to extend as far as Brasov, and to some extent northward along Hungary's old Carpathian frontier.

Hungary thus would regain the mountain range which in times past was her natural defense against attacks from the east. Rumania's acceptance of some such arrangement, coupled with the report that Germany is ready to send troops into Rumania to guard the Russo-Rumanian frontier, brought the conjecture that the Axis powers now are moving decisively to block any further Soviet expansion in southeastern Europe.

NAVY HAS EYE ON 87 TRAWLERS

A total of 87 fishing vessels from Boston and Gloucester will be added to the United States Navy as mine sweepers in the present defense program when Navy plans are completed, it was revealed today.

The announcement followed one that the Navy is asking for 34 more boats from Boston, 19 from Gloucester and one from New Bedford, according to a disclosure made by Walter W. Cenerazzo, business agent of the Gloucester Seafood Workers' Union.

Cenerazzo made the statement in a brief he prepared for submission to the National Defense Board asking for $2,000,000 in RFC loans to enable the fishing industry to survive.

$10,000 FIRE PROBED

EXETER, N. H., Aug. 30.—Firemen today sought to determine the cause of a fire which caused an estimated damage of between $500 and $10,000 to the Exeter Inn, property of the Phillips Exeter Academy. A score of guests were driven out.

Oysters R in Season, Sign Fall Days Close

Auntie really is on its way, now—not to make you unhappy, or seem to be looking on the dark side of life, but, come tomorrow, oysters will be back in season. That means fall.

Fish stalls in Faneuil Hall Market are ready to handle oysters again, and prices are expected to start at about the level they were last Sept. 1—at about $120 a quart for Cape Cods.

Prices generally are pleasant to look on for the returning vacationist.

Southern oysters are 80 and 90 cents a quart, and unopened Cape oysters $120 a peck.

Maine turkey broilers—not to change the subject—weighing about five pounds sell for 50 cents a pound, the first fancy natives of the season.

CONCORD GRAPES IN

The first Concord grapes are selling at 35 cents a pound in three-pound baskets—another sign of fall.

Colorado peaches, best for preserving, are on the market, 75 cents in a three-pound basket; red California plums sell for 75 cents for a basket containing about 50 plums. Maine blueberries run all the way from 35 to 60 cents a quart.

The new Grenshaw melons—cross between a Casaba and a Persian—sell for $1 to $1.25 each, but serve eight persons.

Rib roast of beef which a few weeks ago was selling as low as 25 a lb., is now priced anywhere from 40 to 50 a lb. Legs of lamb are 35 and legs in loin, 40 a lb. Sirloin steak is up to 70 a lb., while Delmonico steaks are unusually high at 40 a lb. Lamb chops are 70 a lb. for the kidney and 60 for the rib. Pork is also high at 35 a lb., an increase of 10 cents in a month while chops are 38 a lb.

FISH STABLE

Veal steak is 60 a lb.; leg of veal, 35 a lb.; rump steak, 60 a lb.; face of the rump, 35 a lb.; bottom of the round, 40; top, 35 a lb.; ham, whole or half, 28 a lb.; sausages, 35 a lb.; best frankfurts, 32 a lb.; bacon, 25 and 30 a lb.; shine of beef, 15 a lb.; beef kidneys, 15 a lb.; lamb kidneys, 50 a doz.

Fish for contrast is about the only buy in the market this weekend that has remained stable in price. Large live lobsters are 45 a lb.; medium live, 50; medium boiled, 60; chicken live, 40; crabmeat, 50 a lb.; fresh opened clams, 65 a qt.; fresh dug Ipswich clams, 40 for a 3 qt. basket; oysters, 36 a pt.; cured smoked fillets, 28 a lb.; sea scallops, 30 a lb.; tinker mackerel, 10 a lb.; large mackerel, 15 a lb.

EGGS LEVEL

Salmon is down about 5 cents, selling at 30 a lb.; swordfish is also down a little at 35 a lb.; sea trout is 35 a lb.; fillet of haddock, 30 a lb.; butterfish, two pounds for 25; dressed flounders, 18 a lb.; striped bass, 35 a lb.; sole fillets, 40 a lb.; cod steak, 15 a lb.; native halibut, 25 a lb.; lake trout, 35 a lb.; baby sole fillets, 18 a lb.; guinea haddock, 12 a lb.; cod, 9 a lb.

Eggs which rose a few cents in price a couple of weeks ago remain at the level. Large eggs are 48 a doz.; medium, 38 a doz.; and duck eggs 45 a doz. The best tub butter is about the same at 42 a lb. The best pint butter is 45 a lb.; while one pound bricks sell at 37 a lb. and unsalted butter at 50 a lb.

Poultry prices have been fairly even. Roasting chickens are 28-30 a lb.; native broilers, 28-32; western variety, 28-30; fowl, 25-28 a lb.; variety, 28-30; fowl, 25-28 a lb.; fresh turkeys, 35 a lb.; frozen turkeys, 28-30 a lb.; ducks, 22 a lb.; capon, 38 a lb.; squab, 45-60 a lb.; pigeons, 35-40 a lb.; guinea chickens, 42-50 a pair; chicken liver, 60 a lb.; chicken fat, 20.

Luscious muscat grapes from California are about the only edibles that are entirely new on the market. They are priced reasonably at 15 a lb. Apples are six lbs for 25 for the cooking variety while juicy Macintosh, 55 a lb.

NAZIS GIVE HOMES TO THE RAIDED

By J. C. OESTREICHER
International News Service Foreign Editor

Successful RAF air raids on Berlin seem to refute the boasts of Grand Marshal Goering that Berlin is absolutely impervious to attack. He dared the Royal Air Force to attempt penetration of what are doubtless the strongest anti-aircraft defenses anywhere in the world and has always assured the Berlin populace that they were safer than anyone else on earth.

Yet the Berlin subway system long ago was transformed into one gigantic air raid shelter and Hitler today had ready at hand any number of brand new completely furnished apartments to present to people who lost their homes when British bombs exploded.

The next few days or weeks will strain civilian morale in London and in Berlin to the breaking point. There is one salient difference, however, Londoners have been told from the beginning their lives were constantly in danger. Berliners have been lulled by assurances of safety.

Which then are better equipped to meet the supreme crisis?

Gordon Barry, Reporter, Dies

Following an illness of two weeks from pneumonia and a bloodstream infection, Gordon Barry, 33, member of the Boston Post reporter staff for more than 14 years, died today at Cambridge Hospital.

Only a few months ago he was married to Miss Barbara Spring of Belmont and they made their home in Ware st., Cambridge.

Although born in Boston, Mr. Barry had lived most of his life in Winthrop.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by his father, Joseph A. Barry, and his mother, Mary G. Barry, a poetess, both of River rd., Winthrop, as well as three brothers, Dr. John R. Barry of West Roxbury and Commonwealth ave., Back Bay; Joseph A. Barry, Jr., of Newton and Philip Barry of Winthrop.

Television Now Made in Color

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—A full-color television broadcast has been made today in the Columbia Broadcasting System's laboratories.

The demonstration was held before Chairman James L. Fly of the Federal Communications Commission, and hailed by CBS officials as the most important contribution to television in the last 15 years.

"At the present rate of progress," vice-President Paul W. Kester said, "Columbia hopes to have its color system, which has been in the intensive stage of development for the past six months, ready for commercial use by Jan. 1, 1941."

FEAR of possible deportation or probable punishment for all-but-forgotten crimes is reported to be preventing many a non-citizen from complying with the Alien Registration Law.

This is unfortunate not only for the United States, but also for the overly cautious alien.

If the tabulation of persons who have entered this country from other lands is to serve the best interests of the defense program it must be complete. A partial listing will not do.

THUMBS DOWN LEST NEW LAW CRACK DOWN

This Alien Complies with Registration Act—All Others Should

It would be of small avail to count all foreign-born residents who behave themselves and to ignore imported Fifth Columnists, Communists, Fascists, Nazis and their ilk.

Such a record could accomplish nothing, save wasting time, money and effort.

Actually, alien distrust of the Registration Law is groundless, no matter how one considers it.

The statute, as adopted by Congress and approved by the President, is extremely lenient.

It literally leans over backward in the non-citizen's favor.

A special provision allows otherwise deportable aliens who can prove good moral character for the preceding five years to remain in this country.

Broad discretionary powers permit the Attorney General to grant various undesirable the privilege of going to any country of their own choosing.

And if the alien can prove his deportation would result in serious economic detriment to a citizen or legally resident non-citizen who is his wife, parent or minor child, he can stay in America by special permission.

ON THE OTHER HAND, the alien who refuses to register is flirting with a very real danger.

He subjects himself to a heavy fine or imprisonment.

He prejudices his position as a possible beneficiary of Congressional generosity.

He invites exposure at any time by persons who are aware of his non-compliance.

He risks the antipathy and scorn of both citizens who resent law-defying aliens and non-citizens who appreciate the privileges they enjoy in one of the few surviving democracies.

In a hundred and one different ways, the slacker effectively seals his own doom.

THE SIMPLE TRUTH is that aliens should regard registration as an opportunity to do a little for the much they receive in the United States.

When thousands of American young men leave their homes and employment to serve for a year in military camps for less than a dollar a day, aliens will remain with their families, friends and jobs.

If war ever comes and youthful citizens are compelled to fight and die, aliens will be free to continue their contented and safe existence.

Under existing laws, the unnaturalized foreign-born are granted practically all the benefits of citizenship without being required to assume the obligations.

Consequently the alien who refuses to give five minutes of his time to compliance with the Registration Law will wake up to find outraged American public opinion demanding that he be sent speedily back to the land of his birth.

MAYOR TOBIN ASKS all business houses, retail stores and owners and tenants of buildings in Boston's down-town area to display the national colors during the sessions of the American Legion convention from September 22 to 26.

We are sure everyone will heed this patriotic request.

Bostonians are eager to give outward proof of their patriotism.

We should transform our city into a veritable sea of flags and bunting.

On The Side

A WOMAN ambling along main stem is about 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs about 185 pounds, and she is wearing a play suit. Maybe it is a punster. Anyway it is one of those things designed to make women of weight and years look like co-eds. I suppose if their husbands didn't stop them some women would be so carried away by the little girl motif they would start wearing their hair in a braid and go in for jumping rope.

JAN STRUTHER is the only woman ever to serve on the editorial board of the London Times. British women do not get so many rights and privileges as they should, because, as a rule, they are too submissive. . . . Kate Smith, radio lark, spells her first name Kathryne on formal occasions. . . . Dorothy Gish and her sister, Lillian, were movie stars when a three-reel film was considered a colossal. Dorothy is on the stage now playing in "Life with Father". . . . Mary Jane Schwab, steel heiress, a divorcee of 31, recently eloped with and married a man of 21. . . . I know of many marriages that have been successful when the wife is ten years or more older than the husband. . . . "My wife is certainly some cook," a young fellow said to me. "She is a better cook than my mother." This being a very unusual statement I asked him where his wife learned to cook and he said: "In high school; she took the domestic science course" . . . "Do you remember the song 'He's My Pal'?" asks a customer.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Aug. 30—We returned from New York City Wednesday in the rain and it seemed very cool and chilly. But, when I walked into my sitting room with a fire burning brightly on the hearth, the world took on a brighter aspect.

The President, Major Hooker and I had a quiet dinner. I think that Archbishop Spellman's visit, and driving around the place, must have had a very soothing effect on my husband because he went to bed at 9:30 and his light, which often burns until late, was out by 10:15.

Yesterday morning I finally discovered how many people are coming to stay with us this weekend. Since there is no housekeeper here, I have been busy having lists made for bedrooms, making out menus for meals and letting all the different people know what their various duties will be during the next few days.

Doing things up here is never quite as simple as doing them in the White House, because there Mrs. Nesbitt does all the detail work which here we have to do for ourselves. However, no matter how busy we are, I always have plenty of people to help me.

THE SELECTIVE DRAFT bill which was passed by the Senate Wednesday will now go to the House, which will mean further conferences and perhaps further changes. I, for one, am glad to see that same consideration is being given to a draft of industry as well as men.

The newspapers yesterday reported severe bombing in both London and Berlin. What this means to civilians in all countries seems increasingly appalling, particularly where children are concerned.

There is no way of shielding children from the sins of their elders, but more and more I feel that we older people have created a curious world in which young-

You will see fine, clear-eyed upstanding girls doing what they can with a sorry collection of short, pimply-faced males whose brain power, judging by their conversation, is as poor as their build." Dorothy is certainly hard on us boys. Maybe somebody should take her out to a football game. Or a baseball game. Or to the war games of the National Guard. And that "any dance" is too broad a statement. Take those young fellows who go in for jitterbugging. Don't tell me they haven't any endurance.

Our Norwegian guests motored here to stay with us for a little while. A sad change for the Princess Martha.

Last year she was here with her husband and, even though clouds hung over Europe, Norway seemed entirely secure in her neutrality. That is a thing of the past and she is back here with her children as a refugee without her husband. Her brave words on landing Wednesday should give us all a cue to our own manner of meeting any hardships which may come.

She said she was sure that Hitler's rule could never be permanent. Anyone who believes that our own philosophy is right, will echo her words.

WILL LEONARD LYONS
WRITE BOOK?
By Jean Dickenson
Opera, Soprano Penn Column
For Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—I'd rather sing than write, but Mother said "Help the nice man, dear—he does need his vacation." So here's a column.

You see, I have a debt to pay off to Mother. Once I put a terrific strain on mother-love and I'm lucky to be alive. At the age of four, Mother and I had to leave India because of a cholera epidemic. The converted cattle boat on which we sailed was struck by a monsoon and everybody was seasick but me. I was not only healthy—I was hungry and cheerful.

I was Mother's little helper running to her bedside constantly with this sweet remark: "Mommy, please grow some more for me." I guess only her weakness saved me from death.

SOMETIMES I WONDER if I really am alive, like one night last winter shortly after my Metropolitan debut. I was celebrating at the Stork Club and a lovely young girl came to our table and said: "Oh, it's so wonderful being here in the same place with you. Every time I hear you sing I'm really thrilled. Please, Miss Durbin, may I have your autograph?"

I guess this business of mistaken identities happens often in New York. The other day I ran into Sally Ryan, the young sculptor, loading her plate with emorgasbord at the Grisholm and she told me that the girls are always telling her she's a second edition of Amelia Earhart or Katharine Hepburn.

Actually, "Tammie" Ryan looks like her grandfather, the late Thomas Fortune Ryan and the feminine version of Huckleberry Finn. With Tammie was Ellen Ballou, Canadian pianist.

I'M TOLD that actress Ilka Chase is writing a little book. "If country doctors and country lawyers can write books, why can't a city actress?" says Ilka. (Incidentally, "Ilka" is a Hungarian name and means "cute little Helen").

If you're doing your fall house cleaning and find a lot of old china plates you might send them to Gladys Swarthout, the beauty of the Met. In her performance of "Carmen" she breaks a plate and uses the pieces for costumes.

AND WHAT about Leonard Lyons—is he writing a book? Last Sunday night after my broadcast on the "American Album of Familiar Music" I met a newspaper man and he said that practically every member of the Fourth Estate writes a book at one time or another.

Right now he's doing some research for a scientific treatise on the component parts of office coffee.

To date, he finds that office coffee is made from (a) amalgamated anthracite dust and emulsified axle grease, (b) 1939 elm leaves, (c) French spring water in which a mustard gas bomb has exploded, and (d) old copy readers.

WHENEVER I get a wave of nostalgia for my childhood experience in India, I go to the Rajah on West 45th street, where the East Indian curry dishes are authentic and all the ingredients and spices are imported.

Or, there's the Jal-Alai in the Village, where the arroz con pollo or corried chicken and rice is supreme and where I saw Noel Coward a couple of weeks ago looking pretty worried about the fate of the British children.

DID YOU HEAR this story about Lother Wolff, film editor. He went down to the Bureau of Motor Vehicles to get a driver's license.

"Do I have to take a driver's test?" asked Mr. Wolff. "Certainly" was the reply.

Mr. Wolff showed his New Jersey license.

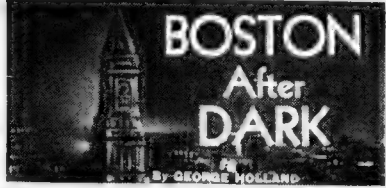

"With that," smirked the New York official, "you'll need several tests and plenty tough ones too."

Do you know anybody with jobs for dogs? My Scotch terrier, Ghillia Bria, is ready for another job. He's just finished testing a synthetic bone for a manufacturer of artificial dog bones. His pay was a pound of dog food per week—the real stuff. Now that the job is over he seems a little bored with unemployment.

And before we leave this subject of jobs just let me remind you again that mine is singing.

GLADYS SWARTHOUT

WE TAKE A LETTER. . . Esteemed Sir: Without consulting the encyclopedia can you identify C. P. Lawlor and J. W. Blake? . . . I'll give you a clue . . . They wrote a song in 1894 that's still sung whenever native New Yorkers—native New Yorkers from Chinook, Montana, Painted Post, What Cheer, Iowa, and Chula Vista—start to weep into their beer in a spasm of nostalgia . . . There, Holland, I haven't got all day! . . . Lawlor and Blake wrote "The Sidewalks of New York," as romantic a song as ever confused the logic of a Tammany leader.

YOU ARE WELL WITHIN your rights, Mr. H., in asking why I have prowled through the catacombs and come up with Lawlor and Blake . . . My approach is oblique, not to say treacherous, but I'm true to my oath of office . . . When I was sworn in as Ed Wynn's deputy I promised to give him my all, perhaps a lot more than my all . . . His new show which will get its baptismal douse in Boston on next Wednesday night is called "Boys and Girls Together" . . . Come, Holland, don't tell me you can't recall the line that precedes "Me and Mamie O'Rourke" . . . Right . . . "Boys and Girls Together" is a line from Lawlor and Blake's tear-stained lyric.

DROP AROUND TO THE RITZ Sunday afternoon and I'll prove all this . . . Mr. Wynn and his company arrive on the Sabbath and my liege lord has promised to pour out a few nogginis of imported rum for such of the press as are able to get up at four o'clock in the afternoon . . . Mr. Wynn was asking me about you last week.

SAID THE LAST he heard of you, you were pitching for Eau Claire in the Wisconsin League, had developed a fast ball, and that you were being scouted by Joe Cronin, who, I believe could use a right-handed Grove . . . You have one qualification: You're as old as Lefty and you have been thrifty.

IF YOU ASK ME, WHICH YOU haven't, Governor Saltonstall should declare a public holiday next Wednesday night, set off some Roman candles on the Commem, and declare a moratorium on night club tabs . . . It isn't often that Boston gets a chance to laugh at so funny a man as Ed Wynn . . . Often? . . . Why this will be only the third time that he has played Boston in the last ten years.

THE DE MARCOS ARE in the Wynn retinue, too, and when you mention the De Marcos, you're talking about the topnotch dance team of America and its insular possessions including Porto Rico and Guam . . . When they were dancing at the Serf Room at the Waldorf, Park Avenue dowagers used to hock their stomachs for a front row pew . . . and collegians down from Princeton and New Haven, for a view of condensed wealth, had to be restrained with polo mallets from invading the dance floor to pay their academic homage to Tony and Renee.

REMEMBER THE TIME WE SMUGGLED a double jerebohm of bacardi off a torpedo boat in the Hudson and how the welkin rang throughout the forties all that night? . . . But there, I'm getting personal . . . I don't want to arouse your ancient thirst . . . But you'd better show up Sunday afternoon or I'll have Mr. Wynn bar you from the theater . . . Y'r. Richard Maney.

EDNA SEDGWICK IN WYNN'S SHOW
Young Dancer Will "Stop" Show, Says Holland

ED. NOTE: Mr. Maney has been America's foremost practitioner of "press-agentry by insult" . . . I suppose the rules laid down for him in the case of the new Ed Wynn show demand that he mention Mr. Wynn, who pays him off, and the De Marcos . . . Meanwhile, New York is ringing with the praises of a young dancer named Edna Sedgwick, whom Mr. Maney doesn't even mention . . . We are predicting here that she will "stop" the show cold.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 30.—Never let it be said the movies do not keep abreast of the times. Two studios have prepared stories with connotation as the topic. Both 20th Century and Warners are rushing through with timely screen plays that deal with the Citizens Training Camp.

Darryl Zanuck's contribution is "Yankee Doodle Goes to Flattsburg," an original by Delmar Daves and Robert Hopkins. It's a semi-musical with Don Ameche and the very amusing Ben Carter in the cast. The Warner yarn, "You're In the Army Now," is a hilarious comedy cocked up by Jerry Wald and Richard MacAulay. You'll see its possibilities when I tell you that it's about the bookkeepers and clerks, timid souls in the office who become hardboiled officers when they get to camp and dish out orders to their bosses who are mere privates. Leonard Hoffman and Jack Lucas are writing the screen play. Jack, by the way, is the son of famed scenarist, Essie Meredyth, and Mike Curtiz is his step-papa.

WHAT GRAND NEWS it is to hear that Alan Mowbray, who has been putting war work before his career these past few months, will have one of the best roles of his career in Alexander Korda's "Lady Hamilton," starring Vivien Leigh and Laurence Olivier. For the last eight weeks Alan has devoted every moment to putting over the Noel Coward "Tonight at 8:30" plays for the British War Relief. Yesterday however he took time out to sign for the role of Lord Hamilton, Vivien Leigh's husband.

VIVIEN LEIGH
ALL YOU FANS who have loved "Snow White" and "Pinocchio" and have heard all about Mickey Mouse's japa are going to see Walt Disney in person in his own picture, "The Reluctant Dragon," which will star that great comic, Robert Benchley. It is already in production. Remember, this is Walt's first "flesh and blood" picture and we'll all be waiting to see it and Walt.

WHEN BING AND DIXIE CROSBY said au revoir to their friends and took the train for New York accompanied by a nurse and their baby, Lindsay, no one knew that they were on the first lap of their trip to South America. Bing plays in the national golf tournament at Mamaroneck—the first time that any motion picture star has ever played in this big game. He won the honor by coming in second in the California qualifying competition. Stanley Moss, who was first was unable to attend the big meet and Randolph Scott, who came third and intended to accompany Bing, also was unable to get away. Understand there's a big deal on between Bob Crosby (Bing's baby brother) and 20th Century-Fox for two pictures a year. The only thing that stands in the way now is dough-re-mi.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: One of Hollywood's unsuspected romances is that of Katie Hepburn and Garson Kanin, who have been seeing plenty of each other; the Add Randall-Mrs. Marcus Daly romance continues to attract attention; Bob Taylor, who has practically covered Barbara Stanwyck with jewelry since their marriage, just gave her an aquamarine and diamond clip—a sympathy gift because she is having a minor operation; Milton Berle called Irene Coleman long distance last night and caught up with her at Ciro's, where she had a date with Alan Gordon.

THE EDDIE LOWES have bought the beautiful Beverly Hills home of the Oscar Hommerstedts and Rita is up to her neck getting it finished. Dave Gurne took Virginia Field to the preview of "The Howards of Virginia." Think nothing of it, however. Virginia Field is still Cary's heart and Virginia's greenhouse is with Richard Greene; Margaret Schuyler and Leonard Haward and the Harold Loyds were among those who congratulated Frank Lloyd for his swat picture. Leta Stetter and Victor Mature still glow at Victor's hips.

Nine pages of pictures of Charlie Chaplin's sensational new movie, "The Great Dictator," will appear in the Green Magazine with the September 1st Sunday Advertiser.

New Style Idea in Knit

COMPLETE your ensemble . . . if you have one of the new double-breasted suits, wear a suit-sweater with it that repeats the motif! That's the clever repetition of a favorite tailored-wear idea. The clever use of buttons in a slimming, narrowed line. This is a new knit pattern, a short, fitted sweater that has a diagonal pattern meeting at the front panel, which is done in stockinette stitch. If you knit it in a medium-weight yarn, you'll find it an all-year-around indispensable, grand for traveling or school. For your set of knitting directions, write Annice Brink, Fashion Editor, Boston American, and please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Love

Too Young?

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I'm in love with a boy who has a good job with a fair income, and comes from an excellent family. He has asked me to marry him, but I hesitate for fear I am not old enough to do it without my parents' consent. Please tell me how old a girl must be before she is allowed to marry without parents' consent. Do you think it advisable?

WAITING.

In the state from which you write, age limits for males is 21, females 18, without consent of parents or guardian. With consent of parents or guardians, males 16, females 14. License must be obtained from county clerk. A three-day wait for license is required.

The above are the legal requirements for which you ask. But if you'll take a word from me, it is extremely unwise for a young girl to fly in the face of parental opposition and marry.

Green Peppers Offer Many Ways to Boost Menus

By MANTHA LEE

The gay riot of fresh vegetables beckoning from stores and gardens is a pleasant reminder that their use in summer menus need be occasioned not only by the fact that they are "good for you." Their crisp texture and stimulating piquancy are a special help for you who are trying to make meals tantalizing in spite of the weather.

Vegetables as main dishes are especially tempting in summer, and green peppers baked with a stuffing are particularly popular in this area. Bearing a stuffing of canned or prepared foods, they are quick dishes. Or they may be filled with a tasty combination of left-overs to help you economize. Thus new recipes for pepper stuffing are always in demand.

PREPARING GREEN PEPPERS

Select firm, crisp looking green peppers for stuffing. If they are large, cut them in halves. The medium and small ones may have their tops cut from them. Wagon the seeds away and drop into boiling salted water, then remove the pan of water from the heat and let peppers stand in the water about five minutes. Drain the peppers and they are ready to stuff. When baking them, watch to see that they don't lose their firmness.

HAM STUFFING FOR GREEN PEPPERS

2 cups chopped cooked ham
1 small onion, finely chopped
Dash of pepper
1 cup rice flakes
1 tbsp. beefsteak sauce
1/2 cup milk
2tbsp. butter
1/4 cup tomato ketchup
Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Prepare six large halved peppers or six small ones as directed above. Fill peppers with ham mixture and place in baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 30 minutes or until heated through.

COOKED SPAGHETTI IN GREEN PEPPER CASES

Prepare six par-boiled green peppers as directed above, then open a large (24-oz.) can cooked spaghetti in tomato sauce and fill the cases with it. Dust lightly with salt and cover with buttered crumbs. Place in a baking pan, then pour four tablespoons water around peppers. Bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) until peppers are tender but still firm and the crumbs are nicely browned. Makes 6 servings.

OVEN-BAKED BEANS IN GREEN PEPPER CASES

To serve four, prepare four large green peppers as directed above, then spoon beans from a medium (18-oz.) can oven baked beans with pork and tomato sauce into the peppers. Sprinkle with buttered rice flakes or bread crumbs, place in baking dish, then pour four tablespoons water around peppers and bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) until peppers are tender and the crumbs are brown.

SAUSAGE AND MACARONI STUFFING FOR PEPPERS

1 lb. sausage meat
1 medium (17-oz.) can cooked macaroni in cream sauce with cheese
1-3 cup tomato ketchup
Fry the sausage meat until brown, crumbling into small bits with a fork. Combine with cooked macaroni and ketchup. Fill six peppers, prepared as directed above, with this mixture and arrange in baking dish. Pour just enough water around the peppers to prevent sticking. Cover the top of each with soft bread crumbs and bake in a moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 45 minutes or until heated through.

GREEN PEPPERS STUFFED WITH RICE

6 medium-sized green peppers
2 cups cooked rice, salted
2 tbsp. butter (melted if cold rice is used)
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chili sauce
1/2 cup water
To serve six, prepare the peppers as directed above. Combine the other ingredients. Fill pepper shells with this mixture. Place in shallow baking pan, then pour in water to 1/2 inch in depth. Bake in a moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 40 minutes, or until peppers are tender.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

THE NORTH SHORE will have two reigning glamour girls instead of one after awards are made in the annual popularity contest at the Magnolia Casino this evening . . .

According to latest advices from the Casino, Cynthia Burrage and Sister Sears have each walked up the same number of votes—so it's going to be a tie, with each receiving cups for the title of "prettiest girl of 1940" . . .

Cynthia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Burrage of Ipswich . . . About five feet two, with soft brown curly hair, deep blue eyes and a pink and white complexion, she has charm and talent as well as beauty . . . She has a gracious, winning manner, much like that of her mother who was a Philadelphia belle . . . and follows in her father's footsteps in becoming one of the Shore's most expert feminine polo players . . . Mr. Burrage is one of a family of famous poloists . . .

Cynthia made her debut last winter . . . She is a sister of Nancy Burrage who has just become engaged to William Chace, and of Cameron Burrage who was awarded the Croix de Guerre for distinguished service with the American Ambulance Corps in France last spring . . .

Sister Sears, the other 1940 winner, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Sears of Hamilton . . . She too has brown hair which she wears in a casual long straight bob, a vivacious manner and is an expert horsewoman . . .

Close Race in Men's Contest

DICK WHITING is neck and neck with Gappy Bacon, Jr., in the race for handsomest man but there are still a few ballots to be counted before this title can be decided . . .

Lucy Cochrane, 1939 "glammer gal," will have a sort of consolation prize in the "best dressed girl" title . . . Nancy Bertelsen, Dottie O'Day and Joan Griess are runners up for this honor . . .

A deb of the coming season is certain to capture the "most vicious" award, because it's nip and tuck between Mary Favorite and her best friend, Mary O'Day . . .

When the ballots were counted last night Holly Philbin and Jean Roberts had a slight lead over Nancy Cochrane and Ann Griess for the title of "best dancer" . . . while Joan Curtis and Cynthia Sortwell will probably emerge as the two best rhumba dancers . . .

The awards are being made tonight at a benefit dance for the Boston Lying-In Hospital and the Directory for Mother's Milk . . .

Many Weddings on Calendar

CUPID'S WELL AIMED DARTS have claimed two victims in several social households . . . providing plenty of opportunity for double weddings . . .

Anne Reed Gallagher and her brother, Rollin, have both figured in the give and take of engagement rings this summer . . . Daughter and son of Mrs. Rollin Gallagher of Milton and Fitzwilliam, N. H., Anne and Rollin are prominent members of Boston's younger social set . . .

Anne's future hubby is Hugh Theodore Putnam, son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Putnam of Dedham . . . Anne Burnett, blonde daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Francis Lowell Burnett of Manchester, is the future Mrs. Rollin Gallagher, Jr. . . .

The possibility of a double wedding in the Robert C. Vose family appears to have been either overlooked or discarded . . . S. Morton Vose and Ruth Denny have already selected Sept. 7 as their wedding date . . . while his brother, Robert, Jr., and the latter's fiancée, Anne Peterson of Brookline, have not as yet disclosed plans for their marriage . . .

The Harold Chalifoux of Beverly also have two weddings to look forward to in the near future . . . that of their daughter, Betsy, to Harry Draper, and the marriage of their son, Francis, to Evelyn Lilly, of Beverly Farms . . .

Notes From Summer Postcards

FRANCES LOWELL, daughter of the Alfred Lowells of Mt. Vernon st., has motored back to Rochester, N. Y., with Dottie MacAusland Castle (Mrs. John, Jr.) who came on to be a bridesmaid at a recent Boston wedding . . . Before leaving the girls were honored at a cocktail party given by Mrs. Robert T. Lowell at Cohasset . . .

Post deb Julia Bolton is taking part in all the sailing and outdoor activities of the younger set at Cohasset where she is visiting Henry Simonds, Jr., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Simonds . . .

A CHANGE OF SEASON brings a quest for new fashions for Milady's wardrobe and here is Debutante Betty Stearns of Cohasset modeling a new fall dinner gown. Made of turquoise crepe, it has a softly tailored bodice with gold rosettes on the right lapel, and a full accordion pleated skirt to swirl gracefully on the dance floor.

Mary Fuller Weds Sept. 7

Many fashionable Bostonians will motor over Route 1 a week from tomorrow (Sept. 7) to attend the wedding of Mary Fuller at her parents' beautiful estate in Little Boar's Head, N. H.

Daughter of ex-Governor and Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller of Beacon st., Mary is interested in art and the theater, and will undoubtedly put her artistic talents to good use in achieving unusual costumes for her bridal attendants.

She becomes the bride of Robert L. Henderson of Brookline, son of Mrs. James Henderson, at a late morning ceremony at Runnymede. Only members of the families and a few intimate friends will witness the marriage, but a large group of friends have been invited to the wedding breakfast which follows.

Lydia Fuller will be her sister's maid of honor and the four bridesmaids will be Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, Jr., (Lenore Reynolds), Hope Halsey, cousin of the future bride, Melvina Schulz of New York and Mrs. Charles D'Auremont of Lexington.

Mary attended the May School in Boston and following her debut at a lavish tea dance in her parents' Beacon st. house, studied art and dramatics in Rome and London.

Her future husband prepared for college at the Country Day School and graduated from Harvard in 1934. Following their honeymoon the couple will live in Boston.

You Can Be Beautiful

Here's Just the Gift For College-Bound Girl

By ARLINE GOULD

IF YOU'VE been racking your brains for some gift that will really delight a girl who's going to college . . . why not pick something choice from the line of the cosmetician who is considered the height of luxury and social significance by the college crowd?

Ushers Fete Phemister

John Estes Phemister will receive the toasts of his intimate friends at an ushers' dinner tomorrow evening, one of the many gay festivities preceding his marriage to Allison Reid Kilmington a week from tomorrow.

Dining with the future bridegroom will be his brother, Robert T. Phemister of Framingham, who will be the best man; Dr. Francis X. Sommer, Jr., of Boston, the bride's brother-in-law, who will be head usher and the usher staff which includes Charles Bullfinch, of Norwell, John W. Beal, of Hanover, George Ingle of Long Island and Donald McLean of Scituate.

The future bride, daughter of Dr. Arthur R. Kilmington of Beacon st. and Meadowlarks, Greenbush, is a graduate of Vassar College.

Proceeding her down the aisle at the ceremony in First Parish Church, Norwell, on Sept. 7th, will be her three sisters, Mrs. Charles Bullfinch, Mrs. Francis X. Sommer, Jr., Elizabeth Kilmington, and Mrs. Leonard Ferguson of Storrs, Ct., sister of the bridegroom.

Pre-wedding gatherings will include a luncheon given tomorrow by Dr. and Mrs. Kilmington at Meadowlarks, and a Sunday luncheon at which Mr. and Mrs. Bullfinch will be hosts at their home in Norwell.

Mr. Phemister and his bride will make their home in Northampton after Sept. 23. He is in the chemical business in Springfield and his bride will teach at the Smith College Nursery School.

Manners

'Jr.' and '2d'

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

When a child is named after its father, is there any set rule for the use of "Junior" or "2d" or "II" or is it just a matter of choice? Does a "middle class" person consider "2d" or "II" "high-brow"?

D. R. Yes, there is a very definite rule about the use of "Junior" or "Second." If the child's name is the same as his father's, he uses "Junior" after his name as long as his father is living.

If he is named for an uncle or cousin, he may use "Second" or "2d" or "II" after his name. Since this is a definite rule, I see no reason why anyone should regard the correct use of these as "high-brow."

There probably isn't a single make-up problem that isn't taken care of by this cosmetic creator's "beauty primer," which is a book-shaped box containing nine essentials. Not a single thing has been forgotten . . . even the occasional bluish which is prone to pop up at the most inopportune times is remembered, and a jar of ointment that will take care of that is included.

In the beauty primer is a wonderful make-up foundation that will cause her to thank you for giving her the where-withal for a truly glamorous town or evening make-up. There's even matching lipstick and nail polish!

Among her other suggestions are "portrait perfumes," or gay little fringed boxes holding exquisite bottles of perfume. In each bottle is a tiny hand-blown glass figure, giving an effect of Victorian glass-globe daintiness.

A little-vanity is lovely, and will make her feel that at last there is something mysterious and alluring about her . . . for that's exactly the impression given by the beauty primer with its slanting mask cover. It has a fluffy pastel puff.

If you like to learn all about these unusual college-gift suggestions, phone Arline Gould, Liberty 4009, week-days except Saturday, or write, care of the Boston American, Boston (including a stamped, self-addressed envelope).

LISTEN, WORLD! By Elsie Robinson

THEY WON'T give young Bob an allowance. Is he, then, a wild spendthrift? Not at all. He's a normal, happy, affectionate, well-intentioned young American of 18.

Periodically he raises Cain, as all healthy youngsters do. Gets cock-eyed ideas. Gets in a jam. But it's never serious. He's naturally a good kid, and his parents are proud of him.

"Then why won't they give him an allowance?"

Because, they say, he "doesn't know the value of money."

But what IS the value of money? Is it valuable because it's the basis of "buying power"? Is it to be saved and treasured for the wealth it may produce?

Is THAT too supremely important to discuss? Young Bob must save a day from school tomorrow.

Or has money quite another value?

It never occurred to him because of the usual argument: "It's THE CAUSE OF THE EXPERIENCE IT CAN PURCHASE."

Should money be used, not to increase bank accounts but to buy wisdom and promote growth?

"But suppose," cry Bob's worried parents, "he doesn't use money to buy wisdom? Suppose he used it for foolish things—wasted it? Then some day he might have to do without!"

Which would probably be the best thing in the world for him, my dears.

THE BEST LESSON you can learn from any dollar is HOW to do without it.

A wasted dollar often brings far bigger dividends than a saved one.

The quickest way to get wise to yourself and life is to make a fool of yourself—as youth will always do if parents have the sense to permit it.

Why is life? What is the most important thing in life? Cash in hand? Possessions? Or growth? Growth—that is the greatest thing in life. Growth of intelligence, growth of character. And growth is worth anything it costs.

DOES THAT MEAN that a youngster should be allowed to run his wild with dad's bank roll? OF COURSE IT DOESN'T. But it does mean that a youngster should be allowed to learn how to use his money AND HIMSELF by using it—how he learns how to use his money and how and how, under friendly guidance, but being allowed to make his own blunders and being forced to face his own consequences.

What is the value of money?

Beach Devotee

ELEANOR APPLETON, daughter of the Louis B. Appletons of New York and Boston, romps with her twin dashbunds on the beach of the Surf Club at Montauk Point, N. Y.

The value of money is GROWTH, and nothing else but.

But just where does that put Mother and Dad? They claim that young Bob doesn't know the value of money.

DO THEY?

Eli thinks they don't.

"Look at all they could have bought with their money," says Bob; "the swell places they could have gone, the swell things they could have done! But all they care about is saving their old wad. They think if a fellow's rich that's all there is to life."

Is it? Is a man wise if he wastes up the savings he has made and the just cause for the sake of a few leads some cowardly safe? No, sure 'cept respectability."

"But what shall I do if I am not rich? Shall I let the whole world and lose his own too?"

Garfield in Drama Hit At Paramount, Fenway

By DON WARD

Good virile, sinewy drama and romance garnished with songs are the current film fare at the Paramount and Fenway.

Leading roles in "Flowing Gold," melodramatic Rex Beach story with a western oil field setting, are taken by John Garfield, Pat O'Brien and Frances Farmer. Garfield is the fugitive given a hand by O'Brien, oil field driller, and soon rivaling his benefactor for the sweet smiles of the boss' daughter, Raymond Walburn in the boss, slugs oil magnate, and he is the same old sputtering screwball. Everything is typed, in fact, but there is a rousing build-up demanding heroic action on Garfield's part and a glimpse of the fair-haired girl standing proudly by his side. O'Brien never had a chance.

It is chiefly a Garfield, O'Brien picture, with Frances Farmer being just decorative and with comedy incidents worked up effectively by Walburn, Cliff Edwards, Tom Kennedy and a femme named Jody Gilbert. Alfred E. Green directed this Warner show for all it is worth.

Ruth Terry and Johnny Downs top the cast in the musical, "Sing, Dance, Plenty Hot," making love to each other and singing most of the songs written by Jule Styne, George F. Brown and Sol Meyer. The plot touches on amateur show racketeers, with Lester Matthews as the slick fixer, but the fun and the songs are what will keep Paramount and Fenway fans interested. Barbara Allen (known to radioists as Vera Vague) and Billy Gilbert handle most of the laughs. They have the spotlight in one of the song numbers, "I'm Just a Weakie," but they don't take singing honors away from the Terry-Downs duo, "Tequila," with a Mexican flavor, looks like the hit number.

SHARON LEE plays the leading role in "Secrets of a Model," now showing on the Beacon's screen.

Bali Beauties In Gayety Film

Bali belles—very cute and exotic—and a not-so-underworld picture come to the Gayety screen today.

The Bali film, "Wagon," depicts what is described as a "pagoda parade" and incidentally furnishes the first glimpses of the cataplectic Bali dancing girls. These hypnotized nutbrown beauties—Bali girls, all trained in dances for which their island home is famous—are among the shapeliest of all the Orientals—are seen in a ritual dance. An important part of the dance is their semi-conscious frenzy; and while they are in this state they can cast evil spells and even bring death to enemies. So the natives believe. Thousands of Balinese girls, wizards, priests and lion-ton experts took part in "Wagon."

"Mad Youth" is the drama of jitters, jam sessions, gigolos, white slavers, girls who don't know when to go home and other girls used as lure for the unwary youngsters. Mary Ainslee, Betty Compson, Willy Castello, Timmy Wonder and Florence Dudley take the big roles in this drama of adventures and desperate dances. In the jitterbug sequences are Ray Hirsch and Patti Lacey, national champions, together with Eugene Taylor, Allen Morris, Pearl Tolson and Glen Denison.

Cotton Club's Stars Shine

By DON WARD

The Cotton Club's Lucky Millinder brought his band and the rest of one of the club's original revues to the RKO Boston and caused what is known as the raffish to vibrate with the tumultuous applause evoked.

Audience favorites were Chuck and Chuckles, the voluminously up-braided Peters Sisters, Tip, Tap and Toe, those fabulous tap dancers and the Cotton Club orchestra—otherwise the entire company.

The comedy dancers, Chuck and Chuckles, whose act never misses, have brought a zephyrophone along his trip and one of them (you guess who) plays it to excellent advantage.

The Peters Sisters answer accurately to their description "a ton of harmony." Their voices are as sweet as licorice and as plucky as black velvet throughout their repertoire which includes "The South American Way," "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny," "Phylometas," and "Blue Sugar."

Tip, Tap and Toe, whose tapping time is widespread, continue to amaze with their rhythmic footwork. They've run up some new designs and had the audience o-mouthed in admiration.

Swing Row's No. 1 saxophone man, Tab Smith, contributed "The Sunny Side of the Street." On the screen are "Hold That Woman," co-starring James Dunn and Frances Gifford, and "Doomed to Die," with Boris Karloff.

Model's Film Now at Beacon

"Secrets of a Model," which takes screen fans behind the scenes at Hollywood, will continue its Hub run at the Beacon, starting today at the downtown theater. Besides the playboy and artists' model thrills there will be a big laugh hour for the Beacon patrons in one of the Alice Payne "Rose of Washington" Sq.

In "Secrets of a Model," shapely Sharon Lee has the leading role, appearing in the love's model besieged by the rich and wicked man-about-town portrayed by Harold Daniels, but loved honestly all the while by the humble truck driver impersonated by Julien Madison and finally saved by him from further contact with a naughty world.

'I LOVE YOU AGAIN' PROVES TOPS IN COMEDY AT LOEW'S

Powell, Loy At Their Best

By PEGGY DOYLE

When goofier, slicker comedies are made Loy and Powell will make them, "The Thin Man" (his health and his funny-bone completely intact again) and the misuses are funnier than ever. Their "I Love You Again" is proving the brightest spot on the horizon for State and Orpheum patrons this week.

It will make you forget you have a care in the world during its unreeling, and thereafter you'll doubtless enjoy a reminiscent chuckle a day.

The plot stems from Powell's amnesia. Powell, a babbly cross-patch whose wife, Myrna Loy, wants to divorce him, takes a lone cruise. He is erroneously acclaimed a hero when he follows Frank McHugh overboard. But on the head by an ear, Powell's past nine reformed years are wiped out and he resumes his confidence slicker identity.

His wife, who is tied up with those nine years, meets him at the dock.

He finds her enchanting but believes he has never seen her before. He doesn't want to lose her, he is thinking to himself, when she abruptly she brings up the matter of their divorce. Meanwhile Powell is busy promoting a phony oil well, with the assistance of his comic man Friday, Frank McHugh.

Nuttier than a fruit-cake and thickly rained with laughs, "I Love You Again" is grand entertainment and will have you falling in love with the Thinies all over again.

W. S. Van Dyke, II, directed the superb fashion, not missing a trick in Charles Lederer's swell adaptation of the original story by Leon and Maurine Watkins. "Blondie Has Servant Trouble," second feature, is another an using chapter in the Blondie series featuring Penny Singleton, Arthur Lake and Little Larry Sims.

Keith Fans Hail Court Comedy

Colman, Ginger Rogers Star

By PEGGY DOYLE

There have been enough variations on cinematic courtroom sequences, but we rarely heard more provocative patter from bench or witness-stand than Judge Muriel Davenport and Witnesses Ronald Colman and Ginger Rogers contribute in "Lucky Partners."

"Lucky Partners" RKO Radio release expertly produced by George Haghit and now unreeling on the Keith-Memorial screen is a bright and whimsical farce contrived from Sacha Guitry's story "Bonne Chance." As well as being the picture's title, it might well describe the new screen alliance of Colman and Rogers.

The romantic Colman reveals a genuine flair for farce as the Greenwich Village painter whose experimental guinea-pig, Miss Rogers, is forced to testify re-iteratively in a thronged courtroom that she loves him. All along she has been pretending to detest him but Colman, acting as his own lawyer, cross-examines the attractive witness and gets the confession. Doubling as cupid, that able actor, Harry Davenport, displays a rare judicial aptitude for not only the language of Blackstone but the gamut of facial expressions that go with it. His is a star performance. Thoroughly convincing, too, is Jack Carson's stuffy boy-friend, "a dope," in Judge Davenport's classical phrase.

The name-calling, a matter of court record, followed the presentation of the facts by the principals, the facts being that Carson, the dope, had agreed that his fiancée, Ginger, accompany Colman on a pre-nuptial junket to Niagara Falls.

Between the moonlight and the indubitable chain of the pair of tourists, the plotline is something gets out of hand. Then galant Colman walks out on the experiment, but not before the loutish Carson has registered his suspicion.

It's a barrel of fun, even though you don't see much of Niagara Falls; and Lewis Milestone's direction is of the ace variety.

The second feature, "Argentine Nights," brings back the zany

The Romance In His Soul

HE LIVED in silence, and it was that silence which had betrayed him. Unfamiliar with words, he could not demand an explanation. Inarticulate, Doreen could not offer one.

His bewitching smile had been the wind whipped around him. Trying not to hear the noise of the whirling traffic, he turned his eyes toward the door.

At the end of a long night he was in the kitchen. A quiet, charming woman, with very original and lovely eyes. To only for the commotion, he was the only person on the platform.

When he reached the house, he was amazed to find it unchanged. This amazement he called Doreen. It could not change in a few hours. Not even in a few years.

Hanging his coat on the hall closet, he tried not to look at Doreen's bright scarf flung on the shelf.

When the late afternoon sun had been replaced by gray twilight, and that in turn had faded to the darker shades of early evening, he came from his place before the fire. There was a bottle of milk in the refrigerator, some eggs in the pantry. He found a loaf of bread, stale now, but good for toast.

He propped a book before him determinedly as he sat down to his frugal meal. The type danced before his eyes, danced the way Doreen danced. With delicacy and charm, with humor and grace. He shook his head, and tried to concentrate on the words.

He thought he heard the tinkle of the telephone. He listened, and the silence roared back at him. It had been the same last night—and the night before. That tiny hint of a phone tingle—the silence. An auditory mirage, he wondered? Or merely faulty wiring?

He and Doreen had been married six years. In six years a man is so absorbed by marriage that he is no longer an individual. He is part of a couple. The man brushed that thought from him swiftly. Don't think, he told himself sternly. Don't remember. What is to be will be.

The Cast of Characters in "The Muted Trumpet"

EVANS, a painter, who loves but is unable to express that love to DOREEN, his wife, who is a dancer who loves her husband but does not understand him.

Muted Trumpet By Miriam F. Brandon

He turned a page and plowed through the sentences of the book gently.

A NEW EXPERIENCE

They had been separated before. When she was on tour, or when he was exhibiting his paintings in other cities. But physical separation had not been like this. Their thoughts, their hopes, their dreams, had always been a single stream, binding them together as a surging river binds two cities.

There had been a unity, a oneness which their mileage and long silence could not annihilate. But this separation was different. Two days ago Doreen had left. A trip to the city, she told him—the city a mere half hour's distance. And for two days she had not returned or phone. It was as though, knowing him so well, she understood his conclusions, and her absence acknowledged the accuracy of his suspicions.

They were an inarticulate pair, Doreen and Evans Brooks, not were they bound together by mutual profession interests. He knew nothing of the mechanics of dancing. The hours of practice, the business of bookings, the technicalities of her work were foreign to him. Now and then he'd read a review, and find himself faintly puzzled by the respect and admiration with which the critics dealt with a Doreen Brooks performance.

Her work was utterly divergent to everything he was familiar with. Now he wondered if he, with his brushes and his paints, was as much a mystery to her as she was to him.

It isn't good, he told himself, to know too much about ourselves!

He flung his book down angrily, unable to dismiss his malicious thoughts. "It isn't good to know too much about ourselves!" The words Chris Noel had used not so long ago came back to mock him. Evans' long strides carried him back to the living room where the bright tongues of fire licked at the bark of the logs. The thought of Chris Noel followed, and settled beside him on the lounge.

He remembered Chris and Doreen seated in front of him, laughing joyously. Never, Evans had thought, had he been so utterly lovely. Gray-green eyes alight with mirth, curly hair, bright as a flaming torch, and that milky white skin which always looked translucent.

Chris was an architect, and Doreen's knowledge of periods of building, of design, astonished her husband. Somehow he had never disassociated her from that large, mirror-walled rehearsal room which was soundproofed and in which she looked herself for long periods, daily. Yet, watching her with Chris, seeing for the first time how perfectly they seemed to fit one with the other, Evans felt his heart aching.

"I'll see you!"

Doreen, the silent, the inarticulate, the grave, was almost loquacious. The shuffles of their laughter flamed back and forth, weaving a multi-colored band between them, exiling Evans to the realm of dreary jealousy.

When Chris rose to go, just three nights ago, he had said to Doreen, "Then I'll see you tomorrow?" She said, "Oh, absolutely," and gave him a little laugh. Intruding self through the doorway of his room. "How nice—here you are just when I wanted most to see you."

He looked up and tried to smile at her. Her happiness, he saw at a glance, did not extend to her eyes. They were questioning, as though she were wondering how to announce an unsavory bit of news.

"I'll fetch you some tea," he suggested, watching her closely. She followed him downstairs, and turned into the library as he stalked off toward the pantry. He was relieved that the preparation of the tea kept him away long enough to enable him to regain his poise.

"Nice," she murmured, sipping the hot liquid.

He nodded. For a few moments, they sat in silence. Her eyes still worried, sought his expressionless face. When she finished her tea she rose to her feet and stretched. "Call me at three," she asked and went upstairs. He could hear her shut the door of the rehearsal room.

Not a word—no explanation. Grimly, he carried the tea things back to the kitchen.

His fury was rising like the mercury in a thermometer. Somehow her silence infuriated him more than her perfidy had. It indicated so clearly that she did not think upon the expression in her eyes, Evans turned away, embarrassed. Not even the next morning could he bring himself to say anything save a casual, "Have a nice time with Chris."

Now and then he'd read a review and find himself faintly puzzled by the respect and admiration with which the critics dealt with a Doreen Brooks performance.

She nodded. "I'm lunching with him in New York," she murmured. He paused, wanting to ask her not to go, yet not knowing how to put his feelings into words. Instead he patting her on the shoulder.

"Have a nice time," he repeated lamely, and fled.

That was two days ago. He had not seen her since.

Now he watched the embers of the fire die. Slowly, he rose and climbed the stairs to his room. At 10 o'clock the next morning he heard her light steps in the foyer. Her key fell to the floor with a clatter, as she raced upstairs.

"Evans!" she cried flinging her-him sufficiently important to deserve an explanation.

"TRY TO UNDERSTAND"

Dinner was a grim meal. Not only was Doreen silent, but she seemed troubled. Neither her absence nor her return were mentioned.

"I saw Theopold when I was in town," she told him suddenly. Theopold was her agent. She put down her fork carefully and crumpled a corner of bread with nervous fingers. "Evans," she began swiftly, "I cancelled my tour."

He moistened his lips. Here it comes, he told himself bitterly. Don't say anything you'll hate later. Careful, man, take it easy. She drew a long breath. "I saw Chris, too," she continued. "As a matter of fact, my visit to Chris was very important."

Evans said, "That's nice," and amazed to hear how steady her voice was. He stared at her, his dislike gleaming in his eyes.

Her troubled glance met his. "—Oh, Evans, I wish you'd try to understand."

"I think you might have given me some explanation..." he began, grimly.

"But I wasn't sure," she waited. "I had a positive..."

"That's why you were in town for two days?" he demanded angrily.

"Well, it didn't take me two days to find out, of course," she told him reasonably. "Dr. Walk said there wasn't any doubt..."

Evans passed a hand over his spinning head. "Dr. Walk," he said slowly, "is an obstetrician?" The nerve of his stomach crawled with distaste. "Then you had to see Chris?"

He forced himself to listen to her. The perspiration beaded his upper lip, and only by a mighty effort did he remain calm.

"Yes," she flung her head back defiantly. "I had to see him about turning the rehearsal room into a nursery."

Evans buttered a bit of melba toast thoughtfully. His mind was whirling, and his fingers trembled, but his voice was steady. "Two days is long time to stay away—without sending me a message," he murmured.

She gave him a curious glance. "Dr. Walk said he'd phone you," she began. "I phoned the next day—and the next—"

He was watching her. The worried look had not yet left her eyes. When she spoke her voice trembled slightly. "There was no answer, Evans," she lifted her eyes to meet his. "I thought you had heard from Dr. Walk and that you could—"

WHEN WORDS FAIL

He stared at her. His scalp seemed to tighten as the full impact of her words reached him. Evans' fingers, with words on phrases, he was completely dumb now.

At least he was able to break the silence. "How foolish of you," he began and groaned inwardly, as he listened to the weak inequity of his own words. "You should have known better."

She regarded him thoughtfully, then. "Well, we never talked a lot, and I didn't know how you felt about a child."

"Doreen," Evans began, and then halted. He wanted to tell her all the things he felt. He wanted to explain what the past two days had been like without her. He wanted to reassure, to drive home the unalterable fact that he could not exist without her.

He wanted to make words gleam and sparkle, the way he could make colors gleam and sparkle. He wanted to pour out his happiness in words as he could pour it out as canvas.

"Yes, Evans," she asked. And meeting her eyes, he knew suddenly, that she knew all the things he wanted to say—and understood his limitations.

"Nothing," he told her, smiling gently. Yet, because they both knew how terrifying close they had come to losing the delicate balance which had enabled them to establish their unity without recourse to a lot of words, they understood that when Evans said, "Nothing," he really meant—"Everything."

Jiggs Is a Prudent Man

How Exiled Youth Proved He's Citizen

Just a month ago today, U. S. immigration officials strode aboard the Gloucester fishing schooner Raymonde, tied up at the Boston Fish Pier, and told amazed and incredulous crew member Clyde Miller, 25, of Roxbury:

"You're an alien and outside this quota and you can't come ashore."

A resident of Greater Boston for more than 15 years and a graduate of Roxbury Memorial high school, Miller's report to the immigration men was a "natural" one.

"You can't do this to me," he said. "It's all some kind of crazy mistake."

PROTESTS IN VAIN

His protests were in vain. For a month he was deported to Yarmouth, N. S., and was apparently separated forever from his Roxbury fiancée, dark-eyed, dark-haired young Miss Madge Buchanan.

Yet today, Miller was triumphantly back home with his mother, Mrs. Nellie Miller of Lincoln St., Roxbury.

"But it's cost me plenty," he said ruefully. "I'm broke and out of a job and I guess Madge and I will have to put off our marriage indefinitely."

"But we presented definite evidence that I had come into the U. S. legally at the age of 19 and that I had applied for citizenship papers in 1932 when I was 18.

"They found it in their own records in the end."

"So now I'm safe home. But I've missed three fishing trips on the Raymonde. I'm at least $500 out."

"Now, in the long run, I've won out. But I think Uncle Sam owes me an apology."

Cronin May Retire to Bench Next Season

NEXT TO HIS PATHOLOGICAL PITCHING staff, Joe Cronin's besetting Red Sox problem for 1941 is what to do with Joe Cronin. For destiny, with its weight of worry and the inexorable advance of the years is beckoning Joe to the bench. We, he and I, had an intimate sit-down on the subject under the eaves of the grandstand before the club rolled westward for the last time.

Joe didn't say No and he didn't say Yes. But he said, "it depends on whether the right calibre of a shortstop could be bought, borrowed, begged or stolen before next April." If so he might welcome the chance to "spell himself."

The inference was that, if given his druthers in the matter, he would rather do his worrying next year through the dugout pipe-rails, appearing occasionally as a pinch hitter or sending himself out to do odd jobs of utility infielding. For the load of doubling in brass, so to speak, has worried him pretty thin during the last few baseball seasons and turned him gradually from one of the best shortstops to one of the worst. And so, during the interim before next season he may decide to do one task well, instead of two poorly.

"It will depend on who we can get," he said, adding with a trace of melancholy, "I'd do anything to improve the club. But it's tough to say right out that you're done as a ball player."

Manager on Job at All Hours.

"ALL A BALL PLAYER WORRIES about is his part in the ball game," admitted Joe, "then he worries about himself and not the club. A ball player is like a clerk who works in an office. When he closes his ledgers for the day he doesn't have to think about the job until he punches the clock the next day. But the chances are that while he's out enjoying himself or is in bed sleeping soundly the owner of the business is walking the floor or lying awake trying to figure some way to get out of the red ink."

"The manager, of course, is the boss who walks the floor and lies awake. I know the game is always in the back of my head—trying to think for 23 other fellows on the field and trying to figure out what we did wrong in the game after it's over. For as you know a manager never figures that the other club won the ball game—he always loses it. His pitching wasn't right, his hitters didn't connect, or somebody kicked one. What to do? ... What to do?"

Tom Yawkey, clad in a brown woolen wind-breaker against the chill updrafts that swept the slopes wandered up and leaned over the back of a seat. Joe went on.

"So every lost game means a weakness in his club—maybe only a temporary weakness. A usually dependable infielder boots one, a sudden fit of wildness on the part of an airtight pitcher, or the failure of a good hitter to hit. Those are weaknesses that he doesn't have to worry about. But when he sees a player failing day after day he knows he has to do something about it and so he fails to studying, and worrying. What to do?"

"Is the player just in a slump and will he snap out of it? Or is he slowing up and losing his usefulness to the club? If so, where can I find a replacement? Dispositions among the men are dif-

BEEES, SOX ACES ON LIST OF ELIGIBLES FOR DRAFT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Clark Griffith, baseball's unofficial ambassador to Washington, refused to dodge the draft issue today—he spoke up and said the national pastime was ready to do its part for national defense. "Baseball," said the man who is credited with encouraging such greats of the game as Christy Mathewson and George Sisler to don khaki in the World War, "will do what the country wants. We're all ready. Why, by gosh, at my age, I'm ready, too, if they want me."

MANY STARS ELIGIBLE

A blanket draft of men in the 21 to 30 age group would just about deplete the ranks of today's big leagues. If all of them were taken. This, of course, is improbable, but some of the game's outstanding performers undoubtedly may go into uniform if the conscription bill is enacted.

Back in the World War Griffith virtually saved the major and minor leagues from shutting down. He did it by a long talk with Secretary of War Baker, but getting the jump on the draft helped.

Under the direction of army sergeants all of the big league teams abandoned morning practice for drills and then put on public drills before every game.

"They used bats instead of guns," said Griffith, "but let me tell you they were in shape and ready and really had a four months start on the fellows who hadn't been to camp."

When the work-or-fight order came down in July, 1917, the Old Fox explained, he reminded Baker that the ball players had been drilling for four months, and asked him to wait until September for the players.

Baker said he realized the first months in camp were spent in conditioning and drilling and agreed to the suggestion.

"But," said Griffith, "if the secretary had said 'no,' we'd have called off that afternoon's game and done whatever was wanted. That's the way we are this time."

BOSTON ELIGIBLES

Barring exemptions other than for age, the National League would have eligible, under the conscription bill as passed by the Senate the following stars:

Bucky Walters, Johnnie Mize, Frank McCormick, Joe Medwick, Arlie Vaughan, Pee Wee Reese, Bama Rowell, Eddie Fletcher, Augie Galan, Phil Cavarretta, Harry Danning, Don Padgett, Ernie Koy, John Rizzo, Morrie Aronovitch, Dixie Walker, Max West, Claude Passeau, Mort Cooper, Cliff Melton, Harry Gumbert, Kirby Higbee, John Lanning, Bill Lohrman and Hugh Mulcahy, among others.

American League stars within the age limit would include:

Farndall Entered In Big Cup Chase

FAIR HILL, Md., Aug. 30 (AP)—Farndale, the steeplechaser owned by Emilio Pfizer has been entered in the Foxcatcher National Cup Steeplechase to be run here Sept. 7. Farndale is a recent winner at Saratoga and the defending Foxcatcher champion.

Trainer George Odom has concluded his Saratoga campaigning and has shipped a division to New England and the others to Belmont Park for the Aqueduct meeting.

Semipro Quarterfinals On

WICHITA, Kans., Aug. 30 (AP)—The National Semi-pro Baseball tournament, narrowed to five teams from three states, moves into the quarter finals tonight with the 1937 and 1939 champions meeting formidable opponents.

Enid, Okla., winner three years ago and undefeated in five starts, plays Houston, Texas champion. Houston has won four and lost one in this double elimination event.

LOVE WAITS—This time love must wait for tennis. But when Bobby Riggs, national singles champion, finishes defending his title at Forest Hills next week, he and his bride, above, will go on a deferred honeymoon. They were wed last December, but haven't found the time to take their honeymoon.

Bob Riggs Faces Fall In Net Title Defense

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (INS)—Three forecasts appear reasonably sure today in connection with the national tennis singles championships at Forest Hills, L. I., postponed until tomorrow by rain.

poned until tomorrow by rain. The first is that Alice Marble, the gal with the anapety stems, can't miss retaining her women's title unless she breaks one of the aforesaid stems. The second is that this figures to be the most wide open scramble the men's division has ever known, so wide open in fact, that even if Bobby Riggs were to be dethroned by any one of a dozen challengers, it would cause no undue lifting of eyebrows.

There are no Molla Bjurstedt or Suzanne Lenglen around to challenge Miss Marble and even if there were they would have their hands full taking the pretty girl from California. Alice stands today about where Helen Wills did a dozen years ago—miles ahead of her field.

Riggs has no such easy road to travel. At least five of the nine seeded behind him and two or three unseeded players are capable of knocking him off on any given day.

Back of Riggs came Don McNeill, who twice this year beat the champion; Frank Kovacs, Frank Parker, Joe Hunt, Henry Frusoff, Biltzay Grant, Elwood Cooke, Gardnar Mulloy and Welby Van Horn.

can, Okla., defending champions, go against Sanford, N. C., a club made up of southern college athletes, at 10 p. m. The loser will be eliminated from a chance at the $5000 championship prize. Each has won four and lost one.

Duncan ousted Natrona, Pa., 11-1, in a fifth round game last night after Mt. Pleasant, Tex., fifth club left in the tournament, moved into Saturday's semifinals by eliminating Chicago, 6-5.

Preview of 1940: Eagles Open Long Flight ³⁷

EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, AUGUST 30, 1940

MACHINE AGE ON GRIDIRON, TOO—Linemen Walter Dubzinski and Moran grin as they push the charging machine around. They'll not grin when real practice sessions start next week, for the Eagles must drive hard for the opener with Center and the big Tulane test the end of September. On the Tulane game may rest their chances for a title-winning season. So Leahy will push the boys at top speed. Today's sessions were principally for the purpose of letting the boys loosen up and letting the cameramen record the event for Mr. John Public.

Shrimp Best Bait

Plymouth Smelt Run

By DARK MONTREAL

The cold snap has brought the smelt in and these silver fellows are being taken in large numbers by crowds fishing from Plymouth town pier and the coal wharf. Some really big ones are being taken on the high water.

Shrimp has been the best bait so far.

Bill Dupree took 55 the other night, and 53 of these on a small "gold" hook. He doesn't think it was just coincidence because he duplicated the performance, comparatively speaking, the next evening.

I have reports in hand of a 6-pound, three ounce small mouth black bass caught at Billington Sea by Ding Robbins, of Plymouth, and a 6½ pound salmon taken trolling a salt water smelt at Long Pond by an unidentified angler.

Dear Dark Montreal:

Such a prompt and detailed response to my letter regarding tautog fishing impels me to bother you with this note of thanks. Just in case this information may be worth something to you as a fishing reporter, I met a fellow returning from Salt Island (which is located 200 yards off Good Harbor Beach in Gloucester) with three eight pound tautog which were caught in a hole on the inside eastern tip of the island. Last year about this time a Mr. Brown of this city caught a 17-pounder in the same spot. Again, many thanks.

GLOUCESTER.

Dear Mr. Gove:

The thanks go to you from the column readers.

The Rhode Island surf casting championship will be held Sunday at Point Judith, Narragansett. Distance and accuracy (litter will be decided). Maine mourns the loss of Capt. Joseph R. Wallace, popular fish and game warden. He died while tuna fishing in Casco Bay where he had taken several big bluefish in the past. Surf casters are taking good fish at Plum Island: striped bass. . . 18th annual field trial of the New Hampshire Field Trial Club will be held Sept. 13, 14 and 15 at the Stobie Farm in Hooksett, N. H.

Eastern Crews Bring Sears Cup To Marblehead

GLOUCESTER, Aug. 29 (AP)—Victory in a closely-contested eight-race series, a crew of three boys from the Eastern Yacht Club of Marblehead today possessed the Sears Cup, emblematic of the National Junior Sailing championship.

Holding a slim lead in points over its nine rivals during the first three days of the competition, the Eastern crew finished strongly yesterday in the final two races, winning one and taking second place in the other.

The final point standings:
1—Eastern 64½
2—Pequot S. C., Long Island, N. Y. 54
3—Villageville Y. C., Blue Hill, Me. 52½
4—Vineyard Haven Y. C. 48

YEARS OF HISTORY

PURE bred from the days of the Pharaohs,—the only pure-bred dog throughout the centuries,—the Greyhound of today is the direct descendant of the dogs of Egypt's Royalty, and of Royalty down through the years.

Dogs of this type are portrayed in the sculptures found in the ruins of the ancient city of Ninevah. They are mentioned in the Old Testament in the words of the learned King Solomon.

Honored in death by burial in a Regal Tomb by his Royal Master King Cheops, and immortalized in sculpture was "Abuwtiyum," the greyhound guard of his majesty.

This is the proud ancestry that looks down through 6000 years on the truly noble animals whose thrilling races add so much to our pleasure today. It is the ancestry that has bred into the Greyhound the honest, eager spirit of competition for which he is everywhere so justly famous.

PROS OUTLAST COLLEGE STARS

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 (INS)—Is professional football improving or is college gridiron talent deteriorating? This is the question up for debate today in the wake of last night's battle staged before 34,567 spectators at Soldier Field when the Green Bay Packers smothered the college All-Stars under a score of 45-23.

The Packers set a high scoring record in winning the seventh All-Star game. The victory gave the professional league an edge of three to two won in the series, the other two sessions ending in ties.

In defeat, the All-Stars tied the previous scoring record and the totals chalked up by two teams came within five of equalling the total points of all previous games.

PACKERS FOOL STARS

Coach Eddie Anderson of Iowa had drilled his All-Stars in an effort to do something about a Herbert-Hutton scoring combination of the Packers, but Coach Curly Lambeau of the Packers tricked the All-Stars by using an Isbell-Hutton duo.

However, if the Herbert-Hutton team was any more formidable than the one used by Green Bay, the All-Stars wouldn't want any part of it. Hutton personally accounted for 21 of his team's points.

The lineup used by the All-Star coaches last night also present a debatable issue. The fans of the nation selected their first team, but the All-Star coaches evidently didn't agree it was the best. The game was not more than two minutes old before there were at least six new faces in the college lineup. About 39 athletes came to Chicago just for the ride and to watch the game.

KINNICK, OTHERS SHINE

The All-Stars can at least boast two accomplishments in last night's encounter—they won the toss and they scored the first touchdown, but it would be hard to find anything else they won.

It just took the All-Stars a matter of three and one-half minutes to score the first touchdown, but then the Packers cut a minute from the college's running time in knocking the count in two and one-half minutes.

In all fairness, it must be said that the All-Stars had considerable talent on the field including such performers as Nile Kinnick of Iowa, Ambrose Schindler of Southern California, Harold Van Every of Minnesota, Ken Kavanaugh of Louisiana State, Bob Kellough of Tulane and Kenny Washington of U. C. L. A. in the offensive department.

F. V. PRO FLAWS

In defensive play, Harry Smith of Southern California, Lee Artoe of Santa Clara, Mel Meyer of Illinois, Clyde Turner of Hardin-Simmons and Edward Kolman, among others, did yeoman service. Last night's encounter was just an old story of experience against youth and ambition with the usual result.

There were few flaws in the workmanship of the Packers, they missed few assignments and gave an excellent demonstration in the finer points of football. If a vote were taken on the outstanding performance in last night's encounter, Cecil Isbell would have been given the nod by acclamation.

Yankees Cut Lead; Jinx Hits Dodgers

By the Associated Press
There is something catching about the New York Yankees' spirit.

They've already captured fans' imagination with a magnificent drive that has bagged 10 victories in their last 11 games, and they're liable to catch the Cleveland Indians and the Detroit Tigers, if the latter clubs don't watch out.

SARAZEN TWO UP ON SNEAD AT 18TH IN PGA CLASSIC

HERSHEY, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP)—Gene Sarazen was two up on Sam Snead at the end of 18 holes in their 36-hole quarter final match in the Professional Golfers Association championship today. Sarazen shot a 68, five under par, to Snead's 70.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden was four up over Paul Runyan when they went to lunch, gaining all his lead on the second nine where he won four of the first five holes.

McSpaden had a terrific duce on the short 14th, where he sank an explosion shot out of a trap from 50 feet. McSpaden's medal score was 72, Runyan's 75.

Byron Nelson also was four up on Eddie Kirk of Framington, Mich. The former open champion shot a pair of steady 35s for a round of 70, three under par, while Kirk scored to 74 and won only one hole, the eighth, where he holed a 25-foot putt.

GENE GETS BIRDIE

A two-foot putt for a birdie three on the first hole got Gene Sarazen away to a head start over Sam Snead in the opening match of the P. G. A. golf quarter finals today. The sur, ising veteran of the pro ranks kept his advantage through the first six holes of his 36-hole match with his much younger opponent.

Ben Hogan turned the first nine one up on Ralph Guldahl, shooting a 35 to Guldahl's 36. Hogan sank a 12 footer for a birdie three to capture the first hole and then the two ex-Texans halved eight in a row.

Hogan out 355 435 343-23
Guldahl out 455 435 343-36

Snead evened it with a 25-foot putt for a two on the 14th. The Equire Game came back with his second birdie at the next, a four, to go ahead again.

Sarazen rapped in a 14-footer for another birdie, a three on the seventh hole, and rounded the turn in 33 strokes, two holes up on Snead who had a one under par 35. Sarazen out 3 4 5 4 3 3 4 4-33
Snead out 4 5 4 2 5 4 3-35

Snead reduced Sarazen's lead to one up by sinking a 20-foot putt on the 15th, but then blew an opportunity to win the 17th. His putt for a birdie from two feet hung on the lip of the cup, and he waited several minutes to see if it would drop. On the 18th he missed even a short putt, not more than 18 inches.

Runyan, in 4 4 4 3 4 4 1-35-70

Paul Runyan and Harold (Jug) McSpaden, conqueror of Walter Hagen, reached the ninth hole all even though little Paul had a one stroke advantage on the card.

Runyan holed an eight-footer on the first hole and a five-foot putt on the seventh for birdies. McSpaden kept pitching, though, and tied it on the ninth with an iron that halted only six inches from the cup, for a one-under-par two.

Runyan out 3 5 5 4 3 5 3 3-36
McSpaden out 5 5 5 3 5 4 2-37

McSpaden got hot starting back and shot three birdies on the first five holes to jump into a quick four-up lead over Runyan, who was floundering all over the course.

McSpaden clinched his spurt with a birdie two on the 14th, where he holed out an explosion shot from about 50 feet.

Runyan, in 6 4 5 5 3 5 4 4 3-39-75
McSpaden, in 5 4 5 4 2 5 4 4 3-35-72

A one under par 35 gave Byron Nelson, former open champion, a two-hole advantage over Eddie Kirk of Framington, Mich., on the first leg of their match.

Nelson pitched three feet from the hole for a birdie on the first and then equalled par the rest of the way. Kirk won only one hole, the eighth, with a 25-footer for a sub-par three.

Nelson scored birdies on the 11th and 12th to increase his lead over Kirk to four holes, and from there on in they battled evenly in par figures. He holed out from seven feet on the 13th to reach the green on the 32-yard 12th with his second.

Columbia End Joins Hub Club For Fens Game

Coach Swede Nelson has completed his end squad and has added another tackle to his Eastern College All-Star roster which will test the Washington Redskins at Fenway Park on September 10 in the annual Crosscup-Pishon Benefit Game.

Frank Stulgaitis of Columbia, 6-1, 180-pound end from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., has been signed and will fill out the wing position. Swede Gustafson of Pennsylvania, Tommy Nash of Brown, and Dick Harrison of Boston College are the other ends already in the All-Star fold.

A huge tackle in Ken Haas of Missouri will hold down one of the starting tackle positions. Haas weighs 230 pounds.

The Redskins are going to find themselves confronted with plenty of bone and muscle when they try to march off the Stars' flanks. At one post will be the 230-pound Haas, and on the other side of the line will be Yale's George Seabury of Weston, Mass.

Seabury is the biggest man on the collegiate roster. He stands 6 feet 8 inches and scales 235 pounds. The former Eli star is at present training at Cornwall-on-the-Hudson for the New York All-Star game, while Haas saw action in the All-Star-Fackers game in Chicago last night.

Commander George Wiswell of the Crosscup-Pishon Post announced today that the All-Stars would gather in Boston on Sept. 6. The Washington outfit is due in the Hub on the following day.

TODAY A YEAR AGO — $1456 saw New York Giants beat College All Stars at Chicago 9-0, on field goals by Ken Strong and Ward Cuff.

THREE YEARS AGO — Joe Louis was extended 13 full rounds in defense of world heavyweight title by Tommy Farr, British Empire champion, at Yankee Stadium. Official decision unanimous, but Louis was hard pressed and failed to score a single knockdown.

Challenged to Go In Spa Cup

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP)—Challenged, the champion, seems to have a busy campaign in store, according to plans announced by W. L. Brann, his owner. The champ came out of his recent race in good shape and will start in the mile and six furlong Saratoga Cup tomorrow.

His next start will be in the Jockeys' Club Gold Cup at Belmont, which, like the Saratoga Cup, is a weight for age affair.

Challenger may also be entered in the $50,000 New York Handicap. Brann said he plans to retire the horse to stud next year at Brann's Glade Valley Farm in Maryland.

Zivic Tops Angott In Pittsburgh Bout

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 30 (INS)—Fritzie Zivic, Pittsburgh brawler, today held a 10-round decision over Sammy Angott, of Washington, Pa., NBA lightweight champion, in an elimination match for a crack at Henry Armstrong's welterweight title. Zivic weighed 143½; Angott 137.

FRANK LEAHY GREETE EAGLES AT HEIGHTS

(Pictures on Page 37)
This morning the first action of the 1940 Boston College football season started on University Heights.

Some 40-odd candidates, many of them lettermen and participants in last New Year's Day Cotton Bowl clash with Clemson, were issued equipment and greeted by Head Coach Frank Leahy.

Due to a clause in the Tulane game contract which says that the Eagles machine may not begin practice before Sept. 3, Leahy is forced to spend the time in lining up schedules and plans for the season. But after Tuesday he'll force the squad to top speed.

With the opening game of the season, an Alumni Field clash with the Praying Colonels of Centre College, scheduled for Sept. 21—three weeks from tomorrow—Leahy and his aides, Ed McKeever, Johnny Druze and Joe McCardle, can't lose a moment of the time permitted them for pre-season preparation.

Pirates Renew Farm Agreement

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 29 (AP)—Renewal of the year-old working agreement with the Albany, N. Y., club of the Eastern League as a Class A minor league affiliate of the Pittsburgh Pirates was announced today by William A. Benswanger, president of the Pittsburgh baseball club.

He commented that the agreement proved "mutually satisfactory" this year.

RURAL RUBE HONORED IN REVERE FAREWELL

The cry, "Here Comes the Rube," familiar to greyhound fans, will be changed to a simple, "Good-bye Rural Rube," as 10,000 racing fans bid farewell to the undefeated national champion this evening at Wonderland.

Forced out of racing by illness which cut short his brilliant racing career, The Rube will be honored in simple exercises to be held on the racing strip in front of the grandstand immediately following the featured ninth race.

Edward M. Gallagher, president of the Revere Racing Association will present the stellar champion with a large gold medal, inscribed, bearing a resume of The Rube's track performances.

Though his racing days are at an end, The Rube, which rose to championship heights in two short years, will be retired to stud by Bud Carroll and will travel with the Carroll kennel wherever it races.

The Rube's record since his first win in the fall of 1933 at California track stands at 51 victories, 18 seconds, 10 show efforts, in 83 starts. This record eclipses every mark ever set by a racing greyhound.

Vaillancourt Enters Radio Bowl Bouts

Joe Vaillancourt, 135-pounder from Lawrence, was among the first to file an entry for the 101st Infantry boxing show to be staged a week from tonight at Radio Bowl, Medford.

Vaillancourt's entry heads a team from the Merrimack Valley which will get the Post's proposed fall sessions underway.

Competition will be in the 113, 125, 135, 147, and 160-pound classes. Entries may be filed with Frank Moore, 31 Windsor rd., Medford.

Dr. John Murphy Again Curing Yank Headaches

By SID MERCER

Dr. John Murphy is prescribing the right medicine for those Yankees once more and this expert treatment is a tonic greatly appreciated by the revived champions of the baseball universe.

For several seasons Murphy was baseball's most prominent mass basebaler. He lost his magic last year and only recently regained it. Since a week or so ago he has turned in several swell relief jobs in which he permitted no enemy batter to get on base. You can tie that but you can't top it.

REFUSED TIGERS

Opening against the Western club, Yankee pitchers needed no help in subduing the Tigers in the first two games. Spud Chandler got himself into a jam, however, and the ninth inning of the third Detroit game by filling the bases with none out.

The Tigers needed three runs to tie, and with the top of their ninth batting order coming up they expected to get them. But Murphy wouldn't give up the third run. Two outfield flies scored two Tigers, but the third man was against the noted specialist, Bob Feller, who was dishing it out for the Cleveland Indians.

Murphy sat down Boudreau, Trasky and Keith—just like that—and the Yankees rushed Feller for the winning run in the last half.

RETIREES NINE IN ROW

The call came on Tuesday in the eighth, when Chandler was displaced by a pinch hitter in the seventh.

Again Dr. Murphy had what it takes. He faced the entire Chicago batting order and knocked those boys down as fast as they came up. Joe Gordon assisting with a sparkling stop and throw on Joe Kuhel in the ninth.

So that gives Murphy a perfect score against 14 consecutive hitters. Again we say you can tie it, but you can't beat it.

For a long time this season it looked as if Murphy was on his way out at last. He was hammered viciously several times and finally Joe McCarthy began calling on other relievers when Yankees pitching jammed.

The old doctor is back now with his control and that sick cure and he's one of the reasons that generates high hope for the Yanks in their belated drive.

Heroes and Goats

By International News Service
HEROES—Joe DiMaggio, Yankees, whose homer in a pinch enabled the New Yorkers to go on and win the second game of a double-header from the Browns; Schoolboy Rowe, Tigers, who pitched and batted Detroit to a win over Washington; Bill McGee, Cardinals, who pitched a two-hitter against the Giants.

GOATS—Johnny Rigney, White Sox, who walked in the winning run as Boston defeated Chicago; Hal Schumacher, Giants, who lasted only one inning against the Cards.

Lawrence Plays At Charlestown In C. Y. O. Rubber

With each team wearing a victory on its belt, St. Francis of Charlestown and St. Augustine of Lawrence will play the rubber game of their semifinal series in the play-offs for the diocesan C. Y. O. senior baseball championship at Sullivan Sq. playground, Saturday at 3 p. m.

St. Augustine won the first game at Lawrence, 10 to 3, but dropped the second game at Charlestown, 12 to 5. St. Francis was awarded the privilege of playing the deciding game on its home field by the toss of a coin.

The winner of Saturday's game will play St. Joseph of Medford in a three-game series for the diocesan championship. St. Joseph gained the right of representing Middlesex Deanery in the play-offs by trouncing St. Joseph of Somerville last Saturday, and drew a bye in the play-off semifinals.

Five teams are now staging play-off games for the diocesan intermediate championship. They are St. Matthew of Dorchester, representing Suffolk Deanery; Sacred Heart of Lynn, representing Essex Deanery; St. Francis Xavier of South Weymouth, representing Norfolk Deanery; St. Patrick of Brockton, representing Plymouth Deanery; and St. Rita of Lowell, representing Middlesex Deanery.

Mile-a-Minute Death—The body of Leo Belina of Chicopee Falls still wedged in auto after he and a companion were killed as their car skidded into a telephone pole while going more than 60-miles-an-hour on Front st., Chicopee, police said. Walter Spachiwicz, owner of the machine, was taken to Springfield Hospital and is not expected to live. Second dead man is Rudolph Kagan. Slippery road sent car into twisting skid, to wrap around the pole . . . like this.
